Address, "Medical Preparedness in the Army"—Dr. Robert E. Noble, major United States army, Washington, D. C.

Visiting doctors of the Southern Medical association to the number of nearly two thousand divided their time yesterday between the meetings of three sections held in the Auditorium at the same time. Those sections are made up of auxiliary bodies affiliated with the association proper, which will hold its first meeting in the Auditorium at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

They were the Southern States Association of Railway Surgeons, which met in the main auditorium; the conference on medical education, composed chiefly of the faculties of the various medical schools in the southern territory, which met in the ladies' room to the right of the main entrance, and the section on public health, made up of state and county health officers, which met on the stage, a big curtain dividing this meeting from that in the Auditorium proper.

Interesting Papers Read.

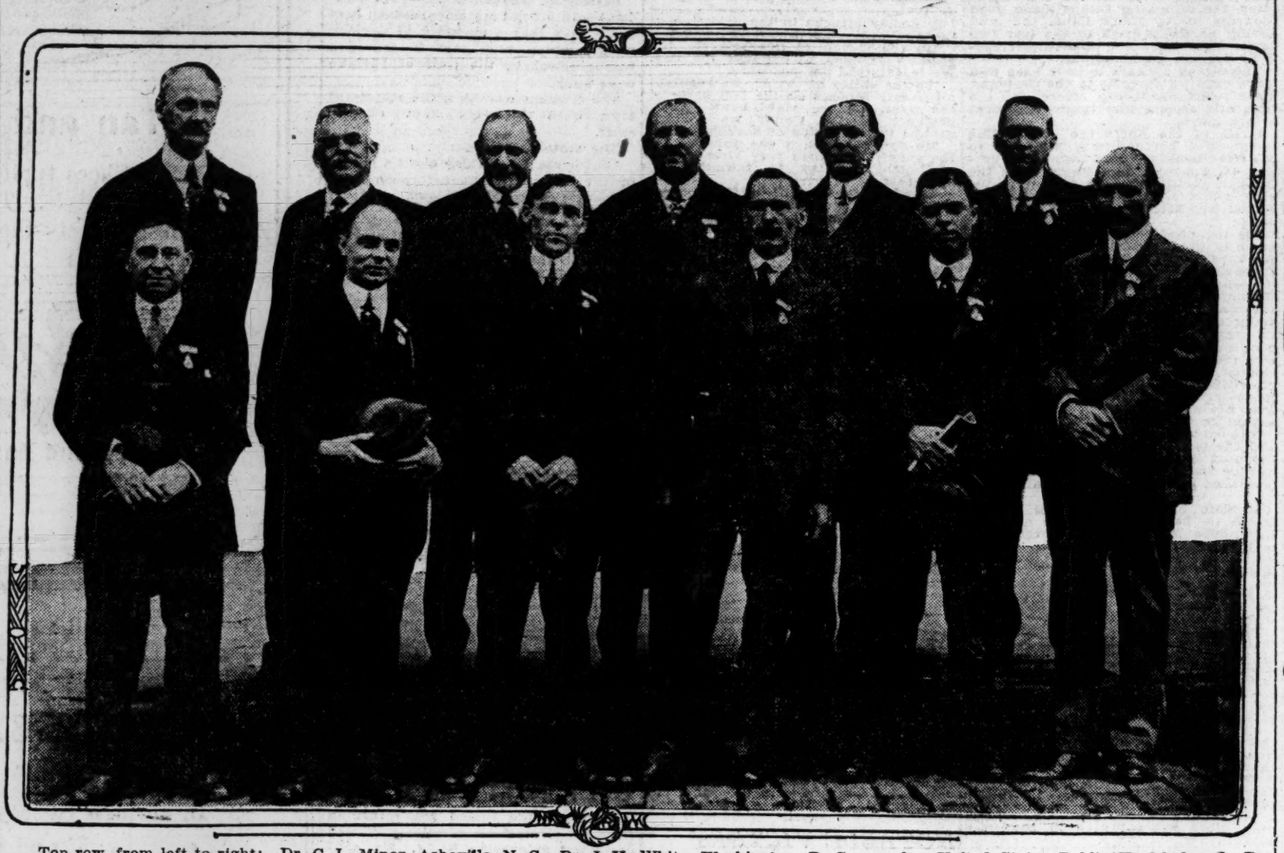

Many interesting papers were read at these meetings and the discussion among the doctors present following the reading of each paper resulted in the interchange of medical experience and the elucidation of some highly fruitful ideas.

At the afternoon session of section on public health, a report was presented by the committee on "Uniform System of Public Health Regulations for the Southern States" was presented. This committee, of which Dr. Oscar Dowling, of Shreveport, La., is chairman, showed up the many defects of the present widely diverging health regulations of the states concerned and suggested a number of legislative amendments.

An interesting discussion followed the reading of a paper by Dr. E. L. Flanagan, of Virginia, on "Intensive Community Sanitation in Virginia." Much stress was laid upon the importance of typhoid vaccination as a preventive of that disease. It seemed to be agreed that far more could be accomplished by enforced vaccination in ridding a community of typhoid than could ever be done by sanitary instruction. The latter made its way so slowly, particu-

LEADERS OF STATE HEAD GREAT PARADE IN WILSON'S HONOR

Streets Are Transformed Into Lane of Fire as Torchlight Procession Is Held Monday Evening.

SIDEWALKS ARE JAMMED BY HAPPY ATLANTANS

Governor Harris, Governor-Elect Hugh Dorsey, Senators Smith and Hardwick and Others in Line.

By Britt Craig.

Did you ever imagine a fire bell could peal so joyously? Would you believe that the rusty old relic for so many years in the belfry at fire headquarters which once clanged out such ominous peans had such an abundance of glee in its voice?

Although it has served its day, and is now but a relic, which will soon be placed in some city park, last night from its temporary home, in front of the fire headquarters it chimed its patriotic tidings as a parade of happy Georgians moved through the downtown streets in celebration of the Woodrow Wilson victory.

Dignitaries and day laborers, politicians and mere voters, judges and janitors, statesmen and street sweepers, a pair of governors and no end of women, girls and little children, strikers and their former employers, jurists and just ordinary folks mingled in the long procession. Senator Hoke Smith walked in the same row with Hugh Dorsey, and Governor Harris was not far away.

Cheering men, women and children lined the route of march. Pretty girls were pulled into the parade by marchers who recognized them. A flag, a torch or a horn was in every hand. The band played patriotic airs, and "Dixie" sounded as intoxicating as though being played on your first trip to Broadway.

Just a Lane of Fire.

THREAT TO STRIKE BY BROTHERHOODS

If the Railroads Fail to Live Up to the Spirit and the Intent of the Adamson Law.

New York, November 13.—Danger of a nation-wide railroad strike, which was believed to have been averted by the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law, has not entirely disappeared, it developed here today when representatives of the railroads and the four brotherhoods, comprising 400,000 employees, failed to reach an agreement as to the proper application of the new law. The stumbling block, both sides admitted, was the existing mileage system of compensation.

The announcement of the latest deadlock between the railroads and their employees came at the conclusion of an all-day conference between the national conference committee of the railways and the brotherhood chiefs, which had been arranged in September.

"We met," said Elisha Lee, chairman of the railroad managers and the conference, "for the purpose of exchanging ideas on the application and operation of the Adamson law. We failed to reach an agreement and we are not certain that another meeting will take place."

Summary Action Threatened.

William G. Lee, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, spokesman for the employees in the absence of A. B. Garretson, of the Order of Railway Conductors, declared in a statement that in the event of evasion by the railroads of the Adamson law summary action would be taken by the brotherhoods. He said that the strike order, which was directly responsible for the law, was still in effect and the brotherhoods would not hesitate to enforce it if the occasion warranted it.

"The brotherhoods asked for this conference," said Mr. Lee. "At the morning session we discussed the application of the law and found that there was no basis upon which we could possibly agree. Another setback, besides the elimination of the mileage system, was the determination of the railroads to continue their suits to determine the constitutionality of the law."

The mileage system of compensation, the basis of which is the number of miles traversed by a train crew and not the actual hours of work, is the crux of the new problem that a railroad authority said may result in the development of a situation similar to the one which brought into being the Adamson law.

"Frankly," said Chairman Lee, of the conference committee, "the trouble lies in the fact that neither the railroads nor the men know definitely how the law should be applied.

Ideas Differ.

"We have our ownideas as to how the law shall be applied—if at all, as suits to test its validity are now pending; while the brotherhoods have their own ideas."

Chairman Lee added that he could not predict the probable outcome of the difficulty. He said, however, that negotiations might be resumed by calling another conference. This possibility was strengthened by the announcement of the brotherhood chiefs that they, with the exception of President Lee, of the trainmen's organization, proposed to remain here for several days. President Lee left for his home in Cleveland tonight. He said it was his intention to join his conferees in Washington Monday, where they will go to attend the

Constitution Man To Fly 1000 Miles Over Four States

Britt Craig and Aviator Will Visit State Capitals in the Interest of Southeastern Land Show.

Britt Craig, of The Constitution, has been commissioned by officers of the Southeastern Land show to accompany an aviator of the New England Aero club on a flight in a Nieuport bi-plane over Georgia, Alabama, Florida and South Carolina on the special mission to deliver invitations to the governors of these three states.

The flight will be unbroken except for scheduled stops in the capitals of the states included in the route. It will be the longest aero journey ever made in the south, and one of the most daring yet made in America. The aeronaut has not as yet been announced by the aero club, with which organization the Southeastern authorities are arranging for the flight.

Bearing the messages of invitation, The Constitution man and pilot will be launched from Atlanta by a delegation of state officials, including the governor, and will go first to Montgomery, Ala., a distance of 175 miles. This branch of the flight will be made over Fairburn, Ga.; Newnan, Ga.; LaGrange, Ga.; Lafayette, Ala.; Dadeville, Ala.; Wetumpka, Ala.

350-Mile Flight.

The next stop will be Tallahassee, Fla., traveling over Troy, Ala.; Ozark, Ala.; Dothan, Ala.; Mariana, Fla.; Quincy, Fla.; then to Tallahassee, a distance of 175 miles from Montgomery. Flying through Thomasville, Ga.; Moultrie, Ga.; Tifton, Ga.; Fitzgerald, Ga.; McRae, Ga.; Alamo, Ga.; Swainsboro, Ga.; Midville, Ga.; Waynesboro, Ga.; Augusta, Ga.; Aiken, S. C.; Lexington, S. C., to Columbia, a distance of 350 miles, will require almost a day's flight.

The return trip to Atlanta will be made in the plane. The trip will be 200 miles, and lie through Saluda, S. C.; Athens, Ga.; Lawrenceville, Ga.; Decatur, Ga. Replies from each governor will be brought back to Georgia's governor by Craig and the pilot.

Arrangements are being made for favorable landing spots in the capital of each city. The governor of the state and his staff will be on hand to greet the flyers. The flight will be one of the most sensational in the south's history, and will be of national importance, due to the connection of the New England Aero club, the foremost aerial organization of the country, and which embraces some of America's most wealthiest sportsmen.

Within Next Three Weeks.

The flight is planned to take place within the next three weeks. It was evolved in a conference between Frank T. Reynolds, secretary of the executive committee of the Southeastern Land show, and Edward Young Clarke, general manager.

The type of plane to be used is one of the latest air devices, a Nieuport biplane, described as a "one-and-a-half plane." It is used entirely by the American Escadrille at the French front of the European conflict. It has a speed of 100 miles an hour.

The Southeastern Land show is the first event of its kind ever held in the south, and was launched by the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. Later the management was put by the chamber into the hands of a committee composed of leading citizens from the states of Georgia, Alabama, Florida and South Carolina. Indications are that it will be Dixie's most spectacular mid-winter affair.

When Patrolman W. E. Armistead, of No. 15 Connecticut avenue, fell to the ground, instantly killed by the bullet of an unknown negro whom he had just placed under arrest early Monday morning, he left unprovided for a widow and a four-year-old baby boy.

In the little home on Connecticut avenue, which the officer was buying, the widow lies confined to her bed. She is soon to become a mother. The home may now have to be sold unless generous Atlanta comes to the aid of the stricken family.

Realizing their necessities, The Constitution has started a fund for their relief with a subscription of $25. Before the paper went to press over $100 had been added to this amount by officers and by friends of the policeman who met death in the discharge of his duty.

ECONOMY

Buy-right hints for the housewife

Are Your Thoughts Christmasward?

Are you contemplating the Holiday buying campaign through the eyes of a wise decision to "shop early"—or are you allowing yourself to be lulled into a spirit of "wait-a-while"—or "bide-a-wee"—or "not-just-now?" No doubt you have experienced the penalties of belated shopping, when crowded aisles, culled over stocks and wildly distracted salespeople combine to take all the glamour out of the occasion and rob the impulse of its sweetly inspired spirit. And upon occasions you have shopped when the season was new, stocks fresh and complete, choice a matter of individual taste, salespeople chipper, courteous and obliging, and prices on the economy side of the purchase.

Which program will you pursue this year?

With the parallel of conditions a vividly drawn line in your memory, it is a safe prophecy you'll begin right now to look over the advertising in The Constitution and see what advertiser is making the best efforts to inspire your "shop early" enthusiasm.

NOTE—The CONSTITUTION guarantees a marked saving on every purchase made in Atlanta in stores that advertise their lowest prices in these pages.

British Drive Mile Deep Into the German Lines On Front of Five Miles

RUSSIANS MENACE REAR OF THE ARMY OF VON MACKENSEN

German Field Marshal Continues to Retreat in Dobrudja — Losses Are Reported to Be Very Heavy.

VICTORY IN MACEDONIA FOR SERBIAN FORCES

Germans and Bulgars Have Been Pushed Back Nearly Two Miles in the Cerna River Region Southeast of Monastir.

New York, November 13.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—In Dobrudja, according to Petrograd advices received by wireless at Rome, the troops of Field Marshal von Mackensen are still in retreat and the Russians have crossed the Danube from the western bank and reached two points south of Tchernavoda on the eastern bank. Berlin asserts, however, that the Teutonic allies have defeated the Russians and Rumanians who were coming down the western bank of the river.

HEAVY FIGHTING IN TRANSYLVANIA.

In the Transylvanian Alps region Bucharest admits that the Rumanians in the Alt river sector have been compelled to yield ground to the Austro-Hungarians, but asserts that King Ferdinand's men have held their own against attacks in the Campulung district.

Both Vienna and Berlin record further advances for the troops of the Teutonic allies all along this front, having taken the towns of Diota and Arsuriler to the north in the Gyergyo mountains and Candesti, northwest of Campulung in Rumania.

SERBS SCORE IN MACEDONIA.

The Serbians southeast of Monastir have scored another victory over the Germans and Bulgars, having captured the village of Iven, lying on the Cerna river to the northeast of Polog, and forced their antagonists to fall back nearly two miles. About 1,000 men were made prisoner in this fighting and large numbers of guns and quantities of arms and ammunition were captured, according to statements from the Serbian and French war offices.

RUSSIAN TROOPS CROSS DANUBE INTO DOBRUDJA

London, November 13.—The Russians have crossed the Danube into Dobrudja at two points south of Tchernavoda, and the Russian fleet has renewed the bombardment of Constanza, according to Petrograd advices received today by wireless by way of Rome.

Field Marshal von Mackensen is reported continuing his retreat with demoralized forces, and with one-third of his effectives lost.

The ravages of disease and the military reverses sustained are declared in the Petrograd advices to have seriously affected the morale of Von Mackensen's army, while the reinforcements he requested to make good his losses are said not to have been provided, his retreat therefore being conducted under disastrous conditions.

RUMANIANS TAKE SERIES OF HEIGHTS.

Petrograd, November 13.—(Via London.)—Austro-German forces are directing violent attacks against the Rumanian positions in the region of Campulung, says a Russian official statement issued today. The Rumanians, after being pushed back in the region of Oituz valley, attacked the teutons north and south of Toivenoling and captured a series of heights.

The statement reads:

"Rumanian front: In Transylvania the enemy, after having launched an attack in the region of Oituz valley, pushed back the Rumanians, who in turn launched an attack north and south of Toivenoling and occupied a range of heights.

"The enemy is launching fierce attacks in the region of the Rumanian town of Campulung. In the Jiul valley and at Orsova a battle is proceeding.

"Dobrudja: On our left flank our troops have made a slight advance to the southward.

Bucharest, November 13.—(Via London.)—In an all-day battle in the region of Dragoslavele, northeast of Campulung, north of the Transylvania border, the Rumanians maintained their positions, the war office announced today. On the right bank of the River Alt, however, the Rumanian forces were compelled to yield ground.

The statement reads:

"Northern and northwestern fronts: On the western frontier of Moldavia and as far as Predulus there was nothing new.

"In the Prahova valley there was an artillery bombardment in the whole section west of the river. We repulsed

Smashing Blow Is Struck by General Haig's Forces on the Ancre River in the Somme Region of Northern France.

SLIGHT RESISTANCE OFFERED BY GERMANS TO BRITISH ADVANCE

Apparently the Kaiser's Troops Were Taken by Surprise — Between 3,000 and 4,000 Germans Have Been Captured—Strongly Fortified Villages Have Been Taken by the British Troops.

New York, November 13.—(By Associated Press European Cable.)—Once again the German line in France has been hard hit. Starting an offensive running from the southern bank of the Ancre river northward over a front of about five miles—from St. Pierre Divion to the north of Serre—the British have captured the towns of Beaumont-Hamel and St. Pierre Divion and first and second line trenches at various points.

Between 3,000 and 4,000 men were made prisoner. The Germans apparently offered slight resistance, although their positions were extremely heavily fortified. A maximum gain to a depth of one mile over the five-mile front was made by the British. Hard fighting continues to the north of Serre.

The new drive probably has as its objective the straightening out of the British line northward from the region of Sars across the Ancre and the pushing of the forward by the British left wing toward Achiet-Le-Petit, the junction point of the Arras-Bapaume and Arras-Miraumont railroads.

RUSSIANS REPEL TEUTONS ATTACKS

A violent artillery duel is still in progress in the Narayuvka region of Galicia and the Russians have repelled strong Austro-German attacks in the Carpathians.

On the Austro-Italian front quiet prevails except for artillery duels. An Austrian aerial bombardment of Weodova killed at least sixty persons, including women and children, says a Rome dispatch.

BRITISH ATTACK CAME AS SURPRISE TO THE GERMANS

London, November 13.—What may become known as the battle of the Ancre opened today when the British forces struck a fresh blow against the German front in the region of the Ancre river. There had been no serious fighting in this sector since the opening of the British push on the first of July, when the British line of attack extended five miles north of the Ancre to Gommecourt. But after a few days no progress being made in this region, efforts were henceforth concentrated further to the south.

Frequent trench raids during recent weeks indicated that some new move was contemplated, but the bad weather, which has prevented any serious operations since October 21, when the last big attack was launched on the Schwaben-Le Sars sector, delayed the blow.

Apparently the Germans were taken by surprise and they offered no serious resistance except before Serre. The attack was carried out over a front extending five miles on both sides of the Ancre against positions which the Germans had held for two years and which they considered impregnable. It resulted in the capture of Beaumont-Hamel and Saint Pierre-Divion, with a gain of new ground of a maximum depth of one mile and a large number of prisoners, between 3,000 and 4,000 having already been reported.

The positions north of the river are described as of extraordinary strength, Beaumont-Hamel equalling Thiepval in the extent and security of its dugouts.

The fighting continues north of Serre. This latest British advance, in conjunction with that on the Schwaben-Le Sars line, threatens the envelopment of Miraumont, on the Albert-Arras railway.

GERMANS DRIVEN FROM VILLAGES.

(Copyright, 1916, by the Associated Press.)

With the British Armies in France, November 13.—(Via London.)—Attacking on a front of nearly five miles on both sides of the Ancre river in mist and darkness early this morning the British made a further breach in the original German front line. They captured the strongly fortified villages of Beaumont-Hamel and St. Pierre-Divion and gained new ground which already has reached a depth of more than a mile at one point. Two thousand prisoners already have been taken to the cages.

Severe fighting continues before Beaucourt-Sur-Ancre, on the north bank of the river, and on the high ground about midway between Serre and Beaucourt-Sur-Ancre, west of the road linking those villages.

Notwithstanding the long prevailing bad weather, with almost continuous rains, the attacking troops made good progress in No Man's Land, the mud having partially dried in the last two days. They were not impeded seriously by German machine guns.

The attack appears to have been to a large extent a surprise to the Germans, little resistance being offered at the first and second line trenches, except before Serre.

South of the Ancre the British line swept in a northeasterly direction to the river bank opposite Beaucourt, cutting off the remaining fragment of the German position around St. Pierre-Divion, while simultaneously Beaumont-Hamel was attacked from the opposite bank.

All the positions of the Germans north of the Ancre were of exceptional strength, Beaumont-Hamel equalling Thiepval in the extent and security of its labyrinth of dugouts, while the German engineers have been laboring constantly for more than two years to make the defenses of which this was an important part impregnable. There was a profusion of connected machine gun redoubts, elaborate telephone and electric light systems and great caverns capable of sheltering companies of infantry. Prisoners say it was believed that Beaumont-Hamel could not be taken by the British.

The barrage accompanying the attack and the subsequent bombardments of the next line of works were described by survivors as the most terrific experienced by them on any front.

London, November 13.—The British troops in their new offensive north of the Ancre river have advanced to a maximum depth of one mile, capturing from the Germans the towns of Beaumont-Hamel and Saint Pierre-Divion, according to the correspondent of Reuter's Telegram company at British headquarters.

The Reuter dispatch says:

"We attacked early this morning. Already the British line on both sides of the Ancre has been advanced for a maximum depth of one mile, capturing the villages of Beaumont-Hamel, considered by the Germans impregnable, and St. Pierre-Divion and also valuable trenches north of Serre.

"All these positions were a part of the heavily fortified original German line and had been occupied for more than two years.

"Many prisoners have been taken. Already 2,000 have been collected in the advanced cages.

"Fighting continues around Serre, the only place not captured in the first assault."

London, November 14.—The bulletin issued at midnight from British headquarters in France reads:

"We attacked this morning astride the Ancre and have succeeded in penetrating the German defenses on a front of nearly five miles. The strongly fortified village of Saint Pierre-Divion has fallen into our hands.

"The attack was delivered before daylight in a thick mist. Severe losses have been inflicted on the enemy; over 3,300 prisoners have been passed through our collecting stations already and more are coming in. The fighting continues.

"The front which has been captured north of the Ancre consists of German original front line defenses of an exceptionally strong nature."

London, November 13.—The Serbian official communication today as received here says:

"Yesterday, in co-operation with the French, we continued the pursuit of the enemy northward and captured the village of Iven (on the Cerna northeast of Polog).

"Our booty comprised 16 field guns, 21 caissons, 14 limbers and a large quantity of artillery and infantry ammunition, rifles and other material. The number of prisoners is not yet known. Enemy dead strewed the battlefield."

Paris, November 13.—The French official statement today reads:

"There was nothing to report on the front as a whole in the course of the night with the exception of the usual cannonade.

"Nine bombarding airplanes and seven escorting planes of the British royal naval air service bombarded blast furnaces and foundries at Saint Ingbert, northeast of Saarbrucken in the basin of the Sarre. All the machines returned.

"Two German machines last night dropped bombs on Belfort. Five civilians were killed."

ALLIES REPULSED, GERMANS REPORT.

Berlin, November 13.—(Via Sayville.) Attempts of entente troops to advance between the Ancre and the Somme yesterday were broken up by German artillery fire, the war office announced today.

In upper Alsace the French took the offensive, but their efforts to advance failed completely.

Berlin, November 13.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—In the town of Sailly-Saillisel, according to the statement, the German forces continue to hold the east edge of the town. The statement reads:

"Western Theater: Army Group of Crown Prince Rupprecht: Between the Ancre river and the Somme river there was intermittent strong artillery fighting. Our fire dispersed hostile infantry on the terrain before our positions south of Warlencourt and it was effective against troops assembling in the British trenches west of Eaucourt l'Abbaye.

"In Sailly-Saillisel we hold the east edge of the town. On both sides of the village the French attacked in the afternoon with strong forces. They were repulsed.

"Army Group of German Crown Prince: A French advance north of Doller, in upper Alsace, launched after artillery preparations completely failed."

ARTILLERY BATTLE ON RUSSIAN FRONT; BIG TEUTON LOSSES

Petrograd, November 13.—(Via London.)—A spirited artillery battle is in progress in the Narayuvka region in Galicia southeast of Lemberg, where hard fighting for important ridge positions has been continuing for several days, the war office announced today.

In the Carpathians both in the wooded district and to the south of Dorna Watra, heavy fighting is also going on, the Austro-German forces in the former region suffering great losses when one of their attacking columns was swept back by a bayonet charge.

Berlin, November 13.—(By Sayville.) There was nothing of military importance to report in yesterday's operations along the battle front from the Baltic sea to the Carpathian mountains, says today's German official statement. The text reads:

"Eastern War Theater: Front of Prince Leopold: Between the ocean and the Carpathians there were no important events."

The statement says:

"Western Front: Yesterday in the region of Garbuzov-Gukalov Major General Remezov, the gallant commander of a brigade, was killed by an explosive bullet while inspecting our position.

"On the Narayuvka in the region of the villages of Lipnicadolna and Svisteliniki, our artillery bombarded enemy trenches. This bombardment was answered with mine throwers, bomb and mortar firing. The battle is still proceeding.

"On the River Bystritsa our scouts made successful reconnaissances in the region of the village of Bogorodhan and after having cut through two rows of wire entanglements attacked the enemy's ambuscade and captured several prisoners.

"In the wooded Carpathians enemy attacks southwest of the village of Dembronia were repelled with great losses by a vigorous bayonet attack. South of Dorna Watra persistent enemy attacks still continue in the region of Hollo and Tolesh.

"Caucasus: Enemy attacks from the west of and from Gumishkan northwest of Erzerum, and south of Kighi were repulsed.

"Black Sea: A Russian submarine near the Bosphorus destroyed a ship which ran ashore after it had been torpedoed. A submarine also sank a sailing steamer and escorted another to Sebastopol."

two enemy attacks in the direction of Cerburai valley northwest of Busieni.

"In the region of Dragoslavele, the battle continued throughout the day. We maintained our positions.

"In the valley of the Alt we repulsed all enemy attacks on the left bank of the river. On the right bank, under pressure of the enemy, we yielded ground in the region of Saracinesti.

"In the Jiul valley the pressure of the enemy continued very strong.

"On the right bank of the Cerna there were lively combats.

"Southern front: There was nothing new."

ATTACKS REPULSED, GERMANS REPORT.

Berlin, November 13.—(Via Sayville.) On the Transylvania front yesterday Austro-German troops captured three towns and repulsed numerous Rumanian attacks, the war office announces. More than 1,000 prisoners were taken. The towns captured are Dicta and Arsuriler, in the Gyergyo mountains on the northern part of the front, and Candesti, in Rumania, northwest of Campulung.

In Dobrudja, Field Marshal von Mackensen's forces repelled troops which were advancing down the west bank of the Danube.

The statement says:

"Front of Archduke Charles Francis: In the Gyergyo mountains, Austro-German battalions captured Dicta and Arsuriler. There and on the heights east of Belbor and also on the east bank of the Putna the Rumanians made several attacks in a futile effort to dispute with us the ground gained. Hostile advances in the mountains on both sides of Oitus pass were repulsed.

"Northwest of Campulung our troops captured Candesti. Southeast of Rothenthurm pass, on the Szurduk road and north of Orsova, Rumanian forces made counter attacks without success. In addition to their sacrifices in killed or wounded the Rumanians lost more than 1,000 prisoners.

"Front of Field Marshal von Mackensen (Dobrudja): Hostile detachments which were feeling their way along the Danube against the left wing of our position in northern Dobrudja were pursued. Tchernavoda was shelled without success from the left bank of the Danube."

NOTABLE VICTORY WON BY SERBIANS ON MACEDONIA LINE

Paris, November 13.—The Serbians have won a brilliant victory over the Germans and Bulgarians in the Cerna district, southeast of Monastir, the war office announced today. The Serbians supported by French artillery forced the Teutonic allies to retire a distance of nearly two miles and captured about 1,000 prisoners.

The retreat of the German-Bulgarian force was compelled after a battle lasting two days.

The prisoners taken raise the total captures since September 12, says the statement, to six thousand men, together with 72 cannon and 53 machine guns taken during this period.

The statement reads:

"Army of the east: In the Cerna region the battle which has been proceeding for the last two days continues with violence. It is increasingly apparent that the engagement is a brilliant success for our arms.

"Supported by intense fire from the French artillery Serbian troops in the Loon of the Cerna gained a fresh victory over the Bulgar-German forces who were obliged to abandon after a sanguinary fight, the village of Iven, sanguinary fight the village of three kilometers to the north of that place under the victorious pressure of our allies. Five counter attacks were delivered by the enemy who, defending himself obstinately, was unable to check our advance.

"Smashed by our artillery fire in the center and attacked with the bayonet by Serbian infantry the enemy was obliged to fall back in disorder, having sustained considerable loss. Further west Serbian forces, to which had been added contingents of French infantry, extended their progress to the north of Velyeselo (in the Cerna river bend). More than 1,000 prisoners so far have been counted. Sixteen more guns were captured on the ground abandoned by the enemy. Since September 14, when our offensive began, the Germans and Bulgarians have left in the hands of the entente allies 6,000 prisoners, 72 cannon and 53 machine guns."

London, November 13.—The Serbians are continuing their pursuit of the defeated Bulgarians in the Cerna bend and have captured the village of Iven, according to a Reuter's dispatch from Saloniki. Iven is five miles north of Polog, reported captured yesterday, and is about ten miles within the Serbian border. Its capture, if confirmed, also means that the Serbians have affected a new crossing of the Cerna river.

ATTACKS FAIL, GERMANS CLAIM.

Berlin, November 13.—(Via Sayville.) Serbian forces yesterday launched attacks against the Bulgarian and German positions south of Monastir, and in the bend of the Cerna river, but according to today's German official statement they were repulsed with heavy losses, and the Bulgarian positions were maintained. The text reads:

"Macedonian front: On the Plain of Monastir there was a strong artillery fire. In the face of hostile attacks near Lazec and Kenali and northeast of Brod, on the Cerna river, the German and Bulgarian positions were completely maintained. The losses of the enemy were heavy."

Sofia, November 12.—(Via London, November 13.—An advance for the Serbians in the Cerna bend is admitted in the official statement issued by the war office today. The text of the statement follows:

"West of the Monastir-Florina railway there was lively artillery action. Eastward and in the Cerna bend there was a desperate battle throughout yesterday and part of last night. All enemy attacks were broken, but the enemy succeeded in holding the heights and making a salient before our positions northeast of Polog.

"In the Moglenica valley there was weak artillery fire. West of the Vardar vigorous cannonading took place. It was calm on the other front except in the Dobrudja, where fighting occurred at our advance positions without important results."

GERMAN WARSHIPS SUNK IN THE GULF OF FINLAND

Fast Torpedo Craft Sent to the Bottom During a Bombardment.

Petrograd, November 13.—(Via London.)—An official statement issued here today says that a majority of German vessels which took part Friday in a bombardment in the Gulf of Finland were sunk.

The German warships, the statement says, were thirty-six knot torpedo craft.

The statement reads:

"Baltic sea: On Friday night a flotilla of the enemy's 36-knot torpedo craft entered the bay of Finland. A dense fog hindered discovery of the enemy's vessels in good time and in consequence the enemy succeeded in bombarding the Baltic coast for several minutes.

"About 100 shells, mostly shrapnel, were fired. Seven civilians, including five children, and two rank and file were killed. One woman and four soldiers were wounded. Several houses were damaged and twelve horses were killed.

"The enemy retired hurriedly, but we sank a majority of the torpedo craft. Further pursuit of hostile units was abandoned in consequence of dense fog and the timely discovery of the enemy's traps."

Berlin, November 13.—(Via London.) German torpedo boat forces on Friday night entered the Gulf of Finland and effectively shelled the Russian naval base of Baltic Port at short range, according to an official statement issued today by the Germany admiralty.

Baltic Port is near the entrance to the Gulf of Finland, 38 miles west of the Russian naval station of Reval. The port is the terminus of the Baltic railroad.

The text of the admiralty announcement says:

"German torpedo boat forces on Friday night, while reconnoitering, pushed into the Finnish bay as far as Baltic port and effectively shelled the harbor and buildings of this Russian naval base at short range."

SUPER-DREADNAUGHT LAUNCHED BY JAPAN

Kobe, Japan, November 14.—The super-dreadnaught Ise was successfully launched today.

While in the inland sea returning from the ceremony a gasoline explosion destroyed submarine No. 4. Six officers of the underwater boat were seriously and eight seamen slightly injured. Two of the crew are missing.

FAMILY OF AMERICANS REPORTED MURDERED

Brownsville, Texas, November 13.—Mrs. Eva Hanson, who arrived here today from Tampico, Mexico, reported that an entire family of Americans had been murdered on the gulf coast near Tampico. Mrs. Hanson did not learn the name of the family or any details of the killings. She said there were about 300 Americans in Tampico, six of them women, but that all were preparing to travel.

48 Inch Cantilever Springs
Next to the motor, easy riding is the most important consideration in buying an automobile.
Everyone knows the famous 35 horsepower Overland motor—more than a quarter million in use—tens of thousands more than have ever been built of any other motor of more than 25 horsepower.
And this year's 35 horsepower Overland is by all odds the easiest riding car of its class.
It has the length—112 inch wheelbase.
It has big four inch tires.
And—it has long 48 inch cantilever rear springs.
It is superior in many other ways but these two advantages—better motor and easier riding—make it the best buy in its class, hands down.
Get yours today.

TWO AMERICANS HELD IN THE JUAREZ JAIL

El Paso, Texas, November 13.—Andres Garcia, inspector general of consulates for the Carranza government, has personally taken charge of the investigation of charges made against Benjamin Brahan, the scout of General Pershing in Juarez, and Joseph Williams, formerly a clerk in a store at Colonia Dublan, Chihuahua, which sold supplies to the American expeditionary forces.

Both Americans are in the Juarez jail.

Brahan is said to be charged with being a Villa spy. The charge against Williams is that of having stolen cattle in his possession. General George Bell, Jr., commander of the El Paso district, denied today that Brahan had been kidnaped on the American side of the river and taken to Juarez after having been drugged.

Everyone Should Drink Hot Water in the Morning

Wash away all the stomach, liver, and bowel poisons before breakfast.

To feel your best day in and day out, to feel clean inside; no sour bile to coat your tongue and sicken your breath or dull your head; no constipation, bilious attacks, sick headache, colds, rheumatism or gassy, acid stomach, you must bathe on the inside like you bathe outside. This is vastly more important, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, while the bowel pores do, says a well-known physician.

To keep these poisons and toxins well flushed from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, drink before breakfast each day a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will cleanse, purify and freshen the entire alimentary tract, before putting more food into the stomach.

Get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from your pharmacist. It is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant. Drink phosphated hot water every morning to rid your system of these vile poisons and toxins; also to prevent their formation.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became saturated with an accumulation of body poisons, begin this treatment and above all, keep it up! As soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and purifying, so limestone phosphate and hot water before breakfast, act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.—(adv.)

HUGHES IS LOSING MINNESOTA LEAD

He Is Only 233 Votes Ahead of President Wilson—Soldier Vote Is Going for the President.

St. Paul, Minn., November 13.—Hughes' lead over Wilson tonight was cut down to 233 by added soldiers' votes and a net gain of 44 over previous returns from Sibley county. The latest count is, Wilson 178,758, Hughes 178,991.

The soldiers to date have favored Wilson slightly, the difference in his favor tonight standing at two—727 for Wilson and 725 for Hughes.

Reports from the county auditors reached the office of Secretary of State Schmahl today, but had little bearing on the result. More are expected tomorrow, and representatives of the democratic national committee will be on hand until the state canvassing board, which begins its duties officially November 28, has finished its work. Dan W. Lawler, who opposed Frank B. Kellogg for United States senator, received word today that the national committee had appointed him, former Governor Lind and Judge F. C. Brooks, of Minneapolis, to watch the counting.

NOT PLEDGED TO REPUBLICANS.

New Orleans, November 13.—Congressman Whit P. Martin, progressive, of the third Louisiana district, over the telephone from Thibodaux today denied recently published reports and statements by leading republicans that he had pledged himself to enter the republican caucus and vote with that party if re-elected, in consideration of the republican candidate's withdrawing from the race in the third. On the face of complete unofficial returns Whit Martin received 91 plurality over Wade O. Martin, democrat. The democrats, however, have filed a contest, alleging irregularities, and it was expected congress would be called upon to decide the contest.

WILSON GAINS IN CALIFORNIA.

San Francisco, November 13.—Official recount of the votes cast in last Tuesday's election began all over California early today, and tonight, with the task swinging along rapidly, no reports had reached political headquarters here which would tend to alter the general results of the unofficial canvass.

In San Francisco President Wilson's lead was augmented by six votes with about one-sixth of the precincts recounted by the board of election commissioners.

The counting was watched closely by checkers, lawyers and expert accountants employed by both the republican and democratic state organizations.

Unofficial reports from other counties received at political headquarters during the day regarding the presidential recount showed in all cases small gains for President Wilson.

FOOD SOURING IN STOMACH CAUSES INDIGESTION, GAS

"Pape's Diapepsin" ends all stomach distress in five minutes.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches, belch gases and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapepsin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapepsin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapepsin which costs only fifty cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's so unnecessary.

WILLET MADE HEAD OF CENTRAL COUNCIL

Leaders of Atlanta's Social Agencies Hear Address by William T. Cross.

Following its temporary organization when several committees were appointed, the Central Council of Social Agencies of Fulton County held its second meeting Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the assembly hall of the chamber of commerce. The members heard an impressive address by William T. Cross, general secretary of the National Committee of Charities and Correction, with headquarters in Chicago.

He stressed co-operation in social work, and spoke of splendid development in the south of social work. He told his audience that in twelve large cities in the United States there were similar councils, which were used for raising the standards of the organizations comprising these councils

Mr. Cross particularly urged the importance of forming a central state board of charities, saying that "Popular knowledge of public institutions is the only sure guarantee of their efficient administration."

The following officers were appointed, making the organization complete: Hugh M. Willet, president; A. Spencer R. Atkinson, first vice president; Wilmer L. Moore, second vice president, and Mrs. W. W. Ross, secretary and treasurer.

The following compose the executive committee:

W. W. Tindall, Mrs. James L. Dickey, J. C. Logan, R. L. Foreman, H. H. Schaul and Miss Laura Smith.

Canary Bird Is Credited With Saving Many Miners By Detecting White Damp

Chicago, November 13.—"Goldie," a canary bird, credited with having prevented loss of many lives in the Pittsburg coal mining district by its detection of "white damp," was the center of attraction today at the opening of the nineteenth annual session of the American Mining Congress. In its cage "Goldie" hopped about as part of the exhibit of the United States bureau of mines.

LEADERS OF STATE HEAD GREAT PARADE

into a lane of fire when the long mass of torch-bearers moved toward Mitchell street. At the head of the pageant blazed a dazzling torch, which lighted up the streets, blinding the gaze and blazing a trail for the shouting, yelling line of celebrants. All the while the ancient old fire bell chimed out its peals of triumph.

The old bell's tones might have sounded somewhat funereal—ominous, to say the least—to those sitting out there in your sun parlor or sitting room, but to those along that flaming line of march—

Mendelssohn would have sounded no merrier!

The parade formed at Forsyth and Marietta streets at 5:45 o'clock. A great crowd was on hand at that time, and grew larger as each minute passed. It was marshaled into perfect order, and the line moved without hitch or trouble. State and civic officials composed the front ranks, being followed by a collection of workers of every class.

Peddlers of horns and flags did a great business. Torches were dispensed to every man in line. The supply was exhausted just as the procession moved up Forsyth street behind a squadron of mounted police in charge of Night Chief E. L. Jett.

The tunes of the band, which followed directly behind the police escort, was drowned in the sea of noise produced by lusty lungs, tin horns, rattlers and every conceivable noise-making device. Even the drum corps had a difficult time asserting itself above the din.

Music Too Much for Veteran.

A few moments before the parade moved from its launching point at the Grady monument, a bent and white-haired old man, with long, gray whiskers, poked his cane along the pavement and tried to make his way to the sidewalk, where he could watch the procession. A marshal approached him: "Won't you fall in line?" said the marshal.

"Ain't young any more," pleaded the old inhabitant. "Give my place to a young'n."

Just at that moment the band struck into the strains of Dixie, going at full tilt. The old man's figure straightened, his hand took a firm grip on the stick, and, he said as he shoved a young man from position: "Here, sonny, go down to the tail and hunt a place."

Eighty years of beard and patriotism then proceeded to march the full route of the parade.

Colonel E. E. Pomeroy served as marshal of the night. He was assisted by a number of aides, which included Major I. T. Catron, Albert S. Adams and Lamar Hill. Included in the front ranks were Governor-elect Hugh M. Dorsey, Governor Nat Harris, Senators Hoke Smith and Thomas W. Hardwick, J. D. Price, St. Elmo Massengale and Charles J. Haden.

The Young Men's Democratic league, led by President Walter Andrews, marched behind the ex-presidents of that organization: Marion Smith, Jerome Simmons, Charles Bernhardt, Aldine Chambers, Judge E. D. Thomas, Ben Lee Crew, James W. Austin, Madison Bell, Charles V. Shelton, Lamar Hill and Edgar Latham.

Miss Alexa Stirling Takes Part in Picture Made by Players' Club

The final scenes in which Mrs. John Marshall Slaton figures as Mrs. Stuart Travers Gordon, leading character in "The Fight on Stone Mountain," the photo-play Robert Hastings Goodman is directing for the Players' club, were taken Monday.

These included the reception of her guests at a garden party, among them being Miss Alexa Stirling, national woman's golf champion. Miss Stirling will be introduced in the picture with a "close up" and sub title.

Among the leads engaged Monday in addition to Mrs. Slaton were Misses Maud Barker Cobb, Helen McCullough and Garda Horton and Alex Smith, Jr., Stanley Mathewson, Hamilton Douglass, Jr., and Forney Wylie.

'WHITE SLAVE' MEASURE BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Question of Application to Personal Immoral Escapades Is Raised.

Washington, November 13.—Argument over whether the Mann "white slave" act applies to personal immoral escapades or only to cases involving transportation of women for commercial gain began late today before the supreme court. The law itself has been upheld by the court, but the question of interpretation is raised for the first time in appeals of F. Drew Caminetti and Maury L. Diggs, of Sacramento, and L. T. Hays, of Alva, Okla., all charged with transporting women in violation of the law, but with the elements of commercialism and coercion absent.

The present administration of the department of justice has brought prosecution in all cases of transportation of women for immoral purposes, whether for commercial purposes or not.

During today's hearing Harry O. Glasser, of counsel for the appellants, insisted that the title of the "white slave" act itself indicated absence of intent by congress to have the law applied to cases of "mere immorality." He asserted that a fair interpretation of the act was that it was intended solely to stamp out organized, or unorganized, traffic in women for immoral purposes by prohibiting their interstate transportation.

Citing decisions of the second, seventh and ninth federal circuit courts sustaining the interpretation given by the department of justice, Assistant Attorney General Wallace argued that congress had the power to prevent immorality by barring transportation of women for immoral purposes, and that the Mann act should be so construed.

"The extent or degree of immorality should not be a factor," said Mr. Wallace. "The purpose of the law was to prevent debauchery of women."

He referred to the case of Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, in which the department's interpretation had been sustained, though admitting that judges of lower federal courts had differed regarding the law's construction. He conceded that Diggs, Caminetti and Hays were indicted for offenses without elements of commercialism.

The arguments were not concluded today, and Mr. Wallace, for the government, and former Senator Bailey, of Texas, for the appellants, will close tomorrow. Justice McReynolds is not sitting in the cases, having passed on questions of enforcement of the Mann act while attorney general.

SUBMARINE REPULSED BY BRITISH STEAMER

Newport News, Va., November 13.—The British steamer Strathness, in port here, was shelled on October 24 by a German submarine while in the Mediterranean, but repulsed the underwater craft by bringing her own gun into play, according to members of the crew. Captain Barnett declined to discuss the matter. The Strathness came unscathed out of the encounter.

60 WOMEN AND CHILDREN KILLED BY AIR RAIDERS

Austrian Aeroplanes Fly Over Italy and Drop Many Bombs.

Rome, November 13.—(Via London.) Sixty women and children were killed in an air raid carried out by an Austrian squadron on Saturday, the war office announced today.

The statement says:

"On Saturday afternoon a squadron of enemy airplanes dropped bombs on Weadova. A building in which women and children had taken refuge was destroyed. A greater part of the inmates were killed. The number of dead already accounted for is sixty."

The highest paid patrolmen in the United States are those of San Francisco, who receive $1,464 a year.

NEGRO HELD FOR MURDER OF HIS WHITE WIFE

Columbus, Ohio, November 13.—Police today were holding Luther Kincade, 31, a negro, for the alleged murder of his white wife, Emma Kincade, who was found beaten to death in their home here yesterday. George Hardin, a brother of the dead woman, is said to be president of a bank at Delray, Dade county, Florida.

RUSSIAN SUBMARINES SINK TURKISH SHIPS

Petrograd, November 13.—(Via London.)—Russian submarines have been active in the Black sea near the Bosphorus. One steamer was destroyed, a schooner was sunk and another schooner, according to the Russian official statement issued today, was taken to Sebastopol.

Never Quite So Much or Such Lovely

Furniture

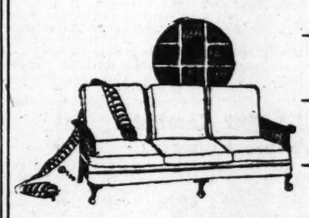

Today this great, five-story Furniture Store is a treasure house that those who would fix up their homes in preparation for winter, may draw upon.

Months ago we went into Grand Rapids and other furniture-making centers, we went with keen eyes, and a knowledge of values and styles that was certain, and we collected, well, we collected just the most extensive and satisfying store-ful of furniture Atlanta has seen.

And mark you this—it is all dependable! That was the first requisite. It had to be made up to our idea of service-giving, lasting furniture before we would consider it.

As for styles—we can but ask you to let us show you the beautiful things that are now grouped in this spacious store! It is hardly fair to pick out one or two things where there is so much that is interesting and deserving, but since the line must be drawn somewhere, let us mention—

These Notable Displays

—Of American walnut dining room furniture

—Of ivory enamel bedroom furniture

—Of American walnut bedroom furniture

—Of brown mahogany, velour upholstered living room furniture

—Of Chinese bamboo sun parlor furniture, yellow and black lacquer

And the gift pieces are already arranged in a beautiful display in the second floor.

We are ready to be of service!

Birthday Celebration Is Held By the Atlanta Woman's Club

BY SUSIE M. WELLS,
(Press Chairman.)

The Atlanta Woman's Club celebrated its twenty-first birthday on Monday afternoon with a delightful program and reception.

Mrs. J. N. McEachern, club president, presented Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, who brought greetings from the federation, and spoke interestingly of her plans.

Miss Sarah Grace Whaley, who was one of the charter members of the Woman's club, told of the beginning of the club, and gave interesting incidents of its early life.

The current event topic, "The Annual Georgia Federation Meeting," was given by Miss Alice Baxter, Mrs. Hugh Willet, Mrs. H. B. Wey, Mrs. Lyman Amsden, Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick and Mrs. J. N. McEachern.

Miss Susie Wells read an original poem, "Federation," dedicated to Mrs. Nellie Peters Black and the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs.

Two vocal selections, "I've Been Roaming" and "A Little Pink Rosebud," were given by Mrs. M. M. O'Brien. A violin solo by Miss Marguerite Walker.

Following the musical numbers memorial exercises were held for Mrs. Robinson, the faithful custodian of the club for many years. Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. Bolling Jones, Mrs. Dalton Mitchell and Miss Whaley paid loving tributes to her memory.

At the conclusion of the program a delightful informal reception was held in celebration of the club's twenty-first birthday, the special guests being Mrs. Nellie Peters Black, Mrs. Z. I. Fitzpatrick, the retiring president of the Georgia Federation, and the charter members of the Atlanta Woman's Club.

On motion of Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. Fitzpatrick was unanimously elected an honorary member of the club.

Dr. W. A. Evans, of Chicago, president of the American Public Health association, was introduced to the club and spoke interestingly of his work for public health. A number of ladies, attending the medical association, were present.

New members recommended by the executive board and elected by the club included: Mrs. R. K. Rambo, Mrs. H. R. Donalson, Mrs. Stephenson, Mrs. J. P. Womble, Mrs. A. B. McGinn and others.

The club house was tastefully decorated for the occasion by the members of the flower committee with Mrs. E. W. Brogdon, chairman.

Delightful refreshments were served by the house committee, of which Mrs. W. S. Jenkins is chairman.

Mrs. J. N. McEachern, club president, was assisted in the entertainment of the guests by the executive board, and the members of the hospitality committee.

Cottolene

"The Natural Shortening"

Women who have tried everything for shortening and frying adopt Cottolene finally because they get better results with it than with anything else they can use.

Cottolene is a pure food product, possessing wholesome qualities that are important.

It requires no preparation; mixes easily with flour—is not absorbed by fish, meats or vegetables fried in it.

Your grocer supplies it in large or small pails. Give him your order today.

Luncheon and Ball Today For Physicians and Wives

Several large functions today will inaugurate the brilliant social program prepared for the entertainment of the visiting physicians and surgeons and their wives in attendance on the Southern Medical association.

At 1 o'clock today the wives of the visiting doctors will be guests at a luncheon at "Stonehenge," in Druid Hills, the beautiful home of Mrs. James N. Ellis, chairman of the ladies' reception committee.

On this occasion the wives of the physicians and surgeons of the Fulton County Medical society will be joint hostess with Mrs. Ellis, and they are also expected to be present and assist in receiving at the other two official functions in honor of the visitors.

The reception and dance tonight at the Capital City club will be a handsome entertainment, assembling all the members of the association, local and visiting. The barbecue tomorrow at Druid Hills club, followed by dancing and golf, will be the third official entertainment, and automobile parties and a golf tournament will be other diversions planned for the visitors on Thursday and Friday.

Henderson-Herring.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Herring announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Etta, to Mr. William Grover Henderson on the afternoon of November 11, at the home of Rev. W. H. Major on Capitol avenue.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Henderson and a party of friends were entertained by Mr. George F. Grafton at a dinner party at the Hotel Ansley. Mr. and Mrs. Henderson left afterwards for a bridal tour. Upon their return they will be at home, the Dalton apartments, after November 20.

The Spanish Center.

The Spanish center will meet this Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock at Marist hall.

Some scenes from Moratin's comedy, "El Si de las Minos," will be read by Mrs. Ulric Atkinson, Mrs. J. D. Leitner and Dr. Barnes, Walter Robinson, P. L. Blackshear and Mr. Yates.

"Pronto La Noche Viene," a Spanish lullaby, will be rendered by Mrs. M. Z. Crist and Professor Campoamor will give one of his very delightful and apropos talks.

Bridge Party for Mrs. Newton.

Mrs. Joseph Newton, of Chicago, who is the guest of Mrs. H. C. Bailey, was honor guest at a delightful bridge tea given yesterday afternoon at East Lake Country club by Mrs. Charles A. Bowen.

The game was played in the living room, which was attractively decorated with white and yellow chrysanthemums.

Tea was served in the dining room after the game.

A large table at which twelve guests, including the hostess and guest of honor, all Kentuckians, were seated was decorated to represent a race track, complete with minature grand stand and horses. The small tables at which the other guests were seated were decorated with chrysanthemums.

Mrs. Bowen wore Burgundy colored satin trimmed in gold lace and fur and hat of black velvet.

Pythian Dance.

The regular monthly dance given by Uniform lodge, No. 123, Knights of Pythias, will be held tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Pythian Castle hall on the ninth floor of the Forsyth building.

For Visitor.

Mrs. Kemp Slaughter will entertain informally at tea Friday afternoon at home for her mother, Mrs. Charles Thomas Kemp, of Baltimore.

To Miss Bellinger.

Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bellinger will entertain for Miss Dolores Bellinger on Friday night at the Japanese dinner-dance at the Georgian Terrace hotel, the party to number fourteen.

To Dr. and Mrs. Evans.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Wynn entertained informally at dinner last night at their home in compliment to Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Evans, of Chicago, who were their guests for the opening of the medical convention.

Luncheon to Visitors.

The luncheon to be given today by Dr. and Mrs. Dunbar Roy will be a compliment to Dr. Richmond McKinney of Memphis, Dr. Clifton Miller of Richmond, Va.; Dr. Joseph B. Green of Asheville, N. C.; Dr. Pierre Mallett of Hendersonville, N. C., who are visiting in their home. There will be eighty guests, including visiting physicians and their wives, and Mrs. Roy will be assisted in entertaining by a group of her Atlanta women friends.

Novelty Dances.

Novelty dances by some of Atlanta's prettiest and most talented young women and girls will feature the "Snow Ball," arranged by Manager Thornton for the East Lake Country club tomorrow evening.

Exactly 235 reservations had been made for the dance up to 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, and it was expected that fully 400 members of the club and their lady friends will be on hand for the big dinner-dance.

A number of beautiful young ladies of Inman Park, who are members of the Inman Park Girls' club, will give a pantomime dance, in costume, during the dinner, which will begin at 8 o'clock. Also, during the dinner, Miss Ruby Terrell, one of Atlanta's talented toe dancers among the younger social set, will give two interpretative dances in costume.

After the dinner Miss Terrell will render Anna Pavlowa's famous "snowflake ballet." Elaborate plans have been laid for this dance. A part of the big ball and dining room has been set aside for decorating after the scheme of a snow scene. Artificial snowflakes will fall during this dance, and variegated light waves will be played upon the snow scene and fair dancer.

The dinner is informal.

To Mrs. Samuel Noble Roberts.

The large afternoon reception given by Mrs. D. B. DeSaussure on Wednesday from 3 to 5 o'clock in honor of Mrs. Samuel Noble Roberts, who has recently come to make her home in Atlanta, was one of the lovely affairs of the week. Yellow and white was the color scheme, which was carried out in all of the appointments. Mrs. DeSaussure received her guests gowned in plum-colored satin and chiffon. Mrs. Roberts was gowned in blue satin with overdress of white tulle and silver lace. Miss Sally DeSaussure, who was also in the receiving line, wore white lace and touches of green satin. Mrs. Henry W. Davis, Mrs. R. C. DeSaussure and Mrs. C. F. Randall served tea and punch. Little Miss Sarah DeSaussure received the cards at the door and was lovely in pink and white. Mrs. Roberts, as Miss Frances Johnson Boykin, of Camden, S. C., has made many friends on former visits to her aunt, Mrs. D. B. DeSaussure, and they are giving her a cordial welcome to her new home.

Chapman-Wyatt.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Chapman, of Wildwood, Fla., announce the marriage of their daughter, Dorothy, to Mr. Burton Wyatt, of Atlanta.

At Druid Hills Golf Club.

The tea-dance at Druid Hills Golf club Saturday was a bright event of the week-end.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Atkinson, Dr. and Mrs. Dunbar Roy, Baron and Baroness Rosenkrantz, Mr. Frank Adair, Miss Mary Murphy, Messrs. Winter Alfriend, F. W. Blalock, C. T. Nunnally, H. R. Calif, W. B. McBurney, Robert Troutman, Mr. and Mrs. A. Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Beck, Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. King, Mr. and Mrs. Dowdell Brown, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Hammond, Mrs. Charles G. Adsit, Mrs. W. D. Hoffman, Mrs. W. W. Rushton, Mrs. Lott Warren, Jr., Miss Grace Bloodworth, Miss Miriam Jones of Albany, Mrs. Hunter Muse, Miss Elizabeth Campbell, Messrs. Riddell, Miss Marian Dunson, Miss Burdine of Miami, Mr. and Mrs. Valdemar Gude and others.

Miss Blalock's Luncheon.

Miss Elizabeth Blalock entertained at a beautiful luncheon yesterday at the Piedmont Driving club in compliment to Miss Estelle Harsh, of Milwaukee, the guest of Miss Margaret McCarty.

The picturesque table, which was in the main dining room, had as its centerpiece a basket filled with pink and white roses and smaller baskets of the flowers were placed at intervals about the table. The candle shades were pink as were all other details, and the placecards were hand-painted in roses.

Miss Blalock's becoming costume was blue Georgette crepe with gray hat.

The invited guests were: Misses Harsh, Margaret McCarty, Grace Bloodworth, Miriam Jones of Albany, Mary Stewart, Louise Walker and Rachel Nunnally, of Monroe, Eloise Robinson, Marion Dunson Bess Burdine, of Miami, Fla.; Patty McGehee, Janet Hatcher, Laurence Horine, Eugenia Adams of Greensboro, N. C.; Caroline Blount, Blanche Devine, Elizabeth Campbell, Gladys Byrd, Lamar Slaton, Mary Murphey, Helen McCarty, Rebecca Hill, May Crichton, Lucile Kuhrt, Dorothy Arkwright, Laura Sawtell and Martha Edmondson.

Informal Tea.

Miss Mary Murphey was hostess at an informal tea yesterday afternoon at Druid Hills Golf club in compliment to Miss Miriam Jones, of Albany, Ga., who is visiting Miss Grace Bloodworth, and for Miss Adams, of North Carolina, the guest of Miss Laurence Horine.

The tea table, set in the palm room was decorated in handsome yellow chrysanthemums. There were ten guests.

After Theater Supper.

Miss Mamie Kirkpatrick entertained a small party of friends last night after the theater at supper at her home on Peachtree street in compliment to Miss Laurence Horine and her guest, Miss Adams, of Greensboro, N. C., and for Miss Mary Stewart and her guests, Miss Louise Walker and Miss Rachel Nunnally, of Monroe.

Hearn-Williams.

Mr. Emory C. Williams, of Kirkwood, was married to Miss Ruth Hearn at the home of the bride, 21 Oglethorpe avenue, Sunday evening. Dr. Dunbar Ogden, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Williams will be at home to their friends at the home of the bride.

Birthday Party.

Mrs. Dowdell Brown entertained fifteen little guests at a party yesterday afternoon for her young son, Dowdell Brown, Jr., whose third birthday was celebrated.

Pretty Show Girls Signed as Models By Local Merchant

J. P. Allen Will Hold Big Fashion Show This Afternoon—"Very Good Eddie" Girls to Show the Latest Frocks, Shoes, Hats, Etc.

This afternoon from 3 to 5 the show rooms of J. P. Allen & Co. will be turned into a wonderful fashion show, at which the prettiest girls from "Very Good Eddie," now at the Atlanta, will act as models in the display of gowns, hats, shoes and other apparel for women. The event promises to be one of the most talked of mid-season happenings of the year, and the rooms will be packed with Atlanta's four hundred and other hundreds.

Arrangements were made with the management of "Very Good Eddie" through Homer George, of the Atlanta theater, two weeks ago for the fashion show. Since that time the New York offices of the Allen store have been busy securing new importations and exclusive copies of the very last word in Paris and New York offerings. The young beauties of the musical comedy are experienced in modeling and wearing beautiful clothing and the result of the show will be stunning in the extreme.

From New York Mr. Allen has received express boxes galore of all the new things in the metropolis. Some wonderful evening gowns are to be shown, but they will be only a small part of the entertainment. Sport garments are all the rage this winter and many designs daring and startling will be worn by the show girls. Some striking riding outfits will be shown, one of which is sure to create a sensation among the young women riders of Atlanta. The newest hats, shoes and other garments will be exhibited by the models.

In preparation for the show Mr. Allen has built a stage and arranged numerous dressing rooms. His entire force will assist in making the girls ready and changing gowns, as well as in seeing that the exhibits are done in a manner sure to please Atlantans. Thousands of invitations were sent out from the store, but a general invitation has been extended the public to attend, and it looks as if the building will be packed and jammed by those anxious to see the girls and the garments.

The girls of the "Very Good Eddie" company are exceptional in their beauty and style. They know how to walk, how to show off a gown to best advantage, and they are a vivacious lot as well. At the Atlanta last night they were a practical sensation by their beauty. The gowns worn in the show are such as to bring approval from Harper's Bazaar, which has pronounced the chorus the best dressed seen in New York in years. The show is a bright musical play made from the farce, "Over Night."

Railroad Y. M. C. A. Membership Campaign To Open This Morning

A campaign will be waged, beginning today and lasting for a period of ten days, among the Railroad Y. M. C. A. for an increase of membership in the organization of 30,000. The number that Atlanta has pledged to raise is 500.

W. W. Wait, superintendent of the terminals of the Southern railroad and chairman of the membership committee, made an appeal to railroad men at an address delivered before them last night at the local association building, appealing to them to exert every effort possible to push the campaign to a successful completion.

The local officers in charge of the campaign are John Hogan, chairman of the campaign committee, and W. W. Dudley, manager of the committee organized for the purpose of arousing interest and seeking the support of the local railroad men.

Considering the fact that there are 5,000 railroad men in the city, it is predicted by the leaders that the campaign will be successful.

VANCE M'CORMICK UNABLE TO ATTEND CELEBRATION HERE

Vance McCormick, chairman of the national democratic executive committee, and one of the biggest factors in the democratic campaign, yesterday wired regrets that he would not be able to come to Atlanta for the democratic jubilee planned by Georgians. In part, he wired:

"Deep regrets that important engagements here prevent my celebrating with you democracy's great victory, showing to the world a United America behind our great president."

RINGWORM ALMOST COVERED HAND

Itching and Burning So Severe Unable to Do Work. Lost Much Rest At Night. Entirely

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My husband suffered with ringworm on his hand. At first it was a very small place, but it kept spreading in a circle until it almost covered his entire hand. His hand was red, sore, and inflamed and very much swollen, and the itching and burning were so severe that he was unable to do a day's work. He lost much rest at night.

"This trouble lasted for many months. I wrote for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and afterwards bought more, and his hand was entirely healed." (Signed) Mrs. Allie Musick, Cleveland, Va., Mar. 16, 1916.

For All Complexion Ills

If the skin be colorless, sallow, muddy, over-red, blotchy or freckled, nothing will so surely overcome the condition as ordinary mercolized wax. It literally takes off a bad complexion—absorbs the dead and near-dead particles of surface skin, gently, gradually, causing no inconvenience at all. A new complexion is then in evidence, clear, spotless, delicately soft and beautiful. One ounce of this wax, procurable at any drug-store, will rejuvenate even the worst complexion. It is used like cold cream.

WEALTHY FARMER SAYS HE NOW FEELS 20 YEARS YOUNGER

Judge Woodson Now Hale and Hearty After Taking Tanlac—Has Held Public Office Over 20 Years.

"I can pick up a log of wood and throw it on the fire with as much ease as I could 20 years ago," said Judge M. L. Woodson, of Jericho, Ark., in telling of the remarkable benefits he has derived from Tanlac while in Jacobi's Pharmacy in Memphis, recently.

Judge Woodson, who is now 70 years of age, served the entire four years of the civil war in Foster's command. He lived two years in Memphis right after the war, and then settled on his present estate, where he has lived continuously for 50 years. Judge Woodson states that his only possessions when he started out for himself were a pair of mules and $38 in cash. He made his fortune farming and trading, and is now probably the wealthiest planter in Critenden county. He served two terms as tax assessor and 20 years as justice of the peace, and is one of the most prominently known men in Arkansas.

"I had been in a general run-down condition and failing health for 10 or 12 years," he continued, "and for the past 10 years I wasn't able to get up on my horse from the ground; I had to lead him to a block or something before I could mount. Jericho is a mile and a half from my plantation, and I hadn't been able to walk there for my mail, according to my usual custom, for a year or two.

"I had lost my appetite and could hardly eat anything at all. I realize that a man 70 years old will give way, but I got so I couldn't put a log of wood on the fire when the negroes were not handy. My doctor wouldn't allow me to eat any meats or much of anything else except vegetables, as I had been threatened with diabetes; but Tanlac has even straightened me out in that respect. I was badly out of sorts, and it looked like nothing I could take would do me any good or give me enough strength to look after my farm hands and my crops.

"Last spring, when Tanlac begun to be advertised and everybody was talking about it, I decided to see what it would do for me. Well, it got me started back up hill at once; but, without going into details about my rapid improvement with each bottle, I'll just say that after taking six bottles I could straddle my horse from the ground and walk that mile and a half for my mail with all ease. In fact, it just built me up until I really feel 20 years younger. I'm more active and have more strength and energy than I've had in years. See how spry I walk? I don't walk like a man a day over 40, do I? That's what Tanlac has done for me. I don't know what Tanlac has in it that does you so much good, but, whatever it is, it certainly hits the spot and builds you up better than anything I ever saw. It certainly has made a new man of me, and I've told lots of people about it. My wife has taken it, too, and it has built her up wonderfully; and I've bought lots of it for my negroes, and it has helped all of them that have taken it."

More Contests Filed With Governor Harris To Stop Commissions

In addition to two contests for county offices already filed with Governor Harris, a number of other contests were filed on Monday, the last day upon which such contests may be filed in order to forestall the issuing of commissions which would prevent contest proceedings.

The contests filed are as follows:

Allen B. Robertson is contesting the election of C. L. Easley, as tax collector of Catoosa county.

R. A. Pinson is contesting the election of Larkin Chastain, as tax receiver of Gilmer county, alleging fraud and other unfairness in the election.

G. W. M. Tatum is contesting the electon of Martin Q. Smith as representative from Dade county.

Q. M. Clements is contesting the election of J. L. Rowland as clerk of the superior court in Walker county, alleging illegal voting.

The election of Dr. Coleman as county school superintendent of Towns county, John M. Johnson as ordinary and A. L. Adams as representative are being contested by three clients represented by Attorneys T. S. Candler and Carl Willborn, of Blairsville, but whose names were not filed with the governor. It is stated that all these contestants are republicans.

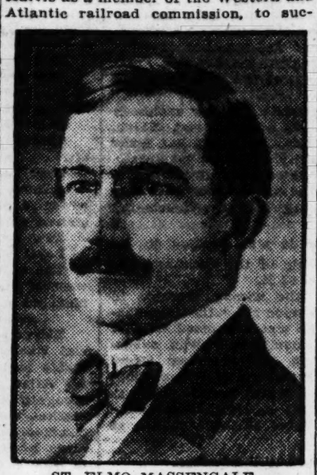

J. T. Sellers is contesting the election of J. A. Robertson as ordinary of Habersham county.

ST. ELMO MASSENGALE NOW ON W. & A. BOARD

Prominent Atlantan Sworn In as Member of Commission by Governor Monday.

St. Elmo Massengale, of Atlanta, was yesterday sworn in by Governor Nat E. Harris as a member of the Western and Atlantic railroad commission, to succeed the late Judson L. Hand, of Pelham. The term is for the life of the commission.

ST. ELMO MASSENGALE.

Shortly after the death of Mr. Hand it was made known that Governor Harris had tendered the place to Mr. Massengale, who was at that time on a business trip in the east and west. Mr. Massengale accepted the appointment some days since and returned to Atlanta Sunday. The commission was signed several days ago, but will date as of Monday, November 13.

Mrs. H. E. Massengale, mother of Mr. Massengale, and a number of friends were present when Mr. Massengale was sworn in.

Mr. Massengale is one of the leading advertising men of the south. More than twenty years ago he established the first advertising agency south of Philadelphia, and has made a wonderful success of the venture. In the civic life of Atlanta he has for years been a leading figure and potent factor. He made a statewide name for himself in affairs of the state three years ago, when he managed Governor Harris' first campaign for the governorship.

The position to which Mr. Massengale has now been commissioned is one of the most important in the service of the state. The Western and Atlantic railroad commission, of which he now becomes a member, is commissioned by the legislature to release the road at the expiration of the present lease and to consider the advisability of the extension of the Western and Atlantic railroad from Atlanta to the sea.

In the action of the commission is involved the safe and advantageous disposition of some $15,000,000 worth of property, revenue from which goes largely to the maintenance of the state's public school system, and upon the value of which as a security is dependent to a very appreciable degree the splendid credit which the state of Georgia enjoys in the principal money markets of the United States.

The appointment is a signal honor and a tribute to the faith which is held in Mr. Massengale's capacity as a sound and successful business man.

Cotton Market Again Passes 20-Cent Mark For Future Deliveries

Gaining 4 and 3 points respectively over the former high record attained on October 25, cotton passed 20 cents Monday in May and July deliveries, selling at 20.09 and 20.07. In both New York and New Orleans all future deliveries experiences substantial advances.

The spot cotton situation in Atlanta, following the rise in New York and New Orleans, gained 25 points Monday to 19.65, the Commercial exchange figures. According to the Atlanta Warehouse company, spot cotton in Atlanta brought 19.75 Monday, a difference of 10 points.

A crop estimate by The Commercial-Appeal, Memphis, and large buying spot houses, is said to have been the cause of the advance.

Negro Fair Closes 4th Yearly Exhibit In Hancock County

Sparta, Ga., November 13.—(Special.) The fourth annual session of the colored fair held by the negroes of Hancock county has just been brought to a close. The fair was a creditable showing for the colored population of the county, and the displays this year were far superior to those of two years ago. Especial attention was drawn by the agricultural and needlework displays, both of which were pronounced excellent.

Booker T. Washington, Jr., was a speaker on Education day. Many white persons visited the fair and praised the thoroughness of the work done.

John D. Walker, former senator from this district, and Professor W. W. Driskell, farm demonstrator for the county, were two of the principal speakers.

The first prize for the best school display was won by the Sparta Agricultural and Industrial institute.

COLUMBUS CELEBRATES ELECTION OF PRESIDENT

Columbus, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—Columbus celebrated the re-election of Woodrow Wilson with a great torchlight parade and rally tonight. It was the biggest celebration of the character held in Columbus since the election of Grover Cleveland in 1892. Ladies as well as men were in the line of march.

The parade was a long and imposing one. The torches were home-made, having been manufactured at a local broom factory, and consisted of a large cotton ball wrapped with a wire handle, the ball having previously been dipped in kerosene and being ready for ignition.

The firing of "Red Jacket," Columbus' historic cannon, also featured the celebration, which was under the auspices of the Muscogee County Woodrow Wilson club.

The march began and ended at the courthouse square, where addresses were made by Congressman W. C. Adamson, Judge George P. Munro and others.

TWO NEGROES ARRESTED AS LABOR AGENTS

Americus, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—The first tangible results of the unrelenting campaign of Sumter county officers and Americus policemen in regard to the wholesale exportation of negroes to the north, has come with the arrest of two negroes, Tedee Jones and Will Burden, who are now in the Sumter county jail, charged with being emigration agents. This charge is a misdemeanor.

The two negroes were arrested in Macon on complaint of three negroes who charged that they paid a small fee for the arrangement of making the trip to the north, and identified Jones and Burden as the manipulators.

REPUBLICANS FAIL TO CONTROL HOUSE, CHAS. CRISP CLAIMS

Americus, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—Although the republicans may have 216 congressmen in the next house, the democrats 213, and other forces 6, Congressman Charles R. Crisp, of the third Georgia district, and a member of the powerful ways and means committee, states that this would not be a working majority for the G. O. P., and their plans to control would be met with much serious opposition. With a membership of 435, Congressman Crisp states that it would take a solid and record vote of 418 to control hands down, which the republicans do not seem to have now.

Congressman Crisp was elected by one of the largest majorities ever given, to the ways and means committee, and he ranks above several democratic members, there being fourteen democrats and seven republicans.

Great Demonstration Held in Columbus Honoring President

Columbus, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—For over two hours tonight Columbus was in the grip of the greatest demonstration ever accorded a president of the United States, thousands of people gathering on the streets and at the courthouse, where homage was rendered to Woodrow Wilson.

The celebration was preceded by a torchlight parade over business streets, headed by a brass band and participated in by over three hundred people, also Hughes' "goat," returning to Court Square over streets that were a seething mass of humanity.

A large bonfire was built and with hundreds of torches gleaming, Congressman William C. Adamson, of the fourth district; Judge George P. Munro, Judge Gus H. Howard and Hon. Lucius Chappell delivered ringing talks to an enormous crowd.

The message that Columbus and Muscogee county sends to Washington is: "Woodrow Wilson, we, and the south are for you."

SAVANNAH CELEBRATES THE ELECTION TONIGHT

Savannah, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—Savannah citizens have arranged to celebrate the re-election of President Woodrow Wilson tomorrow. United States Senator Hoke Smith will be present to take part in the festivities.

The jollification will begin at the weekly luncheon of the Savannah Rotary club and will continue into a mammoth parade through the streets, closing at night with a meeting at the Liberty theater.

GRIFFIN TO CELEBRATE DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

Griffin, Ga., November 13.—(Special.) Griffin is planning a big celebration of democratic victory here Wednesday night. Senator Hoke Smith has accepted an invitation to be one of the speakers and Senator Hardwick has also been invited to deliver an address.

Spalding county, gave Wilson a big majority and democrats all over the county will be present at the big demonstration. Several hundred are expected from adjoining counties.

HAWLEY AGAIN HEADS AERO CLUB OF AMERICA

New York, November 13.—Not one of the forty-five field artillery batteries and the seventy-three forts in the six coast artillery districts of the United States army has an airplane, observation balloon or dirigible, according to a report of Alan R. Hawley, president of the Aero Club of America, made at the annual meeting of the club here tonight.

The report suggests that the field and coast artillery need seventeen aero squadron, 127 kite balloons and six dirigibles. Others who presented reports included Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, Henry A. Wise Wood, Howard E. Coffin and Augusta Post.

President Hawley and all the other officers were re-elected for the ensuing year. Reports showed 291 new members during the year and the issuance of 295 pilot certificates of the International Aeronautic Federation.

It was resolved at the meeting to urge upon President Wilson and congress the need for supplying the field and coast artillery with air machines; for making aeronautics part of the curriculum at West Point and Annapolis; the appropriation of $1,500,000 for the establishment of an aerial coast patrol, and the providing of the coast guard service with airplanes.

CIGARMAKERS OF TAMPA DEMAND WAGE ADVANCE

Tampa, Fla., November 13.—No action was taken by either side in the cigar strike today. The men made their formal demands for $3 a thousand more on all sizes of cigars yesterday and the manufacturers reported today that they could not accede to it, but have made no counter proposition. The men, it is said, will make no further move pending settlement by the manufacturers.

DISSOLUTION DECREED FOR THE "STARCH TRUST"

U. S. Judge Holds Combine Guilty of Unfair Methods of Competition.

New York, November 13.—The so-called "starch trust," representing an aggregate capital of $80,000,000, was adjudged guilty of "unfair methods of competition" in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and a plan for its dissolution was ordered filed with the federal trade commission within 120 days by a final decree filed here today in the government suit against the combine by Judge Learned Hand in federal district court. The corporate defendants, which include the Corn Products Refining company and its allied concerns, are enjoined from continuing unlawful practices, but not, however, from carrying on their business at prices and under methods adopted in good faith "to meet fair, free and bona fide competition."

In order to bring about a situation "in harmony with law," the decree provides that the factories, business and assets of the Corn Products Refining company "shall be divided in such manner and into such parts of separate and distinct ownership as shall be necessary for that purpose." It also provides that, upon the submission of the trade commission of the plan for doing this, a hearing of all parties shall be held by the commission and its findings reported back to the court. The decree took into consideration the possibility of an appeal from it to the United States supreme court and stated that in such case, if the lower court is sustained, the dissolution plan is to be filed within 120 days of the filing of the supreme court mandate affirming the decree.

If the defendants shall fail to present such a dissolution plan within the specified time, the decree declared, the court shall take such steps by receivership or otherwise as "may seem necessary to dissolve the unlawful combination."

The alleged trust, in seeking to obtain a monopoly in starch, glucose, grape sugar and their derivatives, the decree states, threatened, among other acts, the American Maize Products company, with an invasion of the business of the Royal Baking Powder company if it continued its starch and glucose business and a working agreement was finally reached between the two. The decree found also that the trust entered the candy business "for the purpose of injuring the National Candy company" and other confectioners, in order to force them to buy their glucose principally from the Corn Products Refining company. It also asserted that by 1910 the company had sufficient producing capacity to supply 90 per cent of the demand for starch and glucose and took steps by selling at or below cost to drive independents out of business. The same practice was followed, it declares, in mixed syrup for "the purpose of monopolizing such trade in the United States." Another method to restrain trade used by the alleged trust, the court finds, was to secure "by private communications and importunities to the railroad officials an increase in the eastbound freight rates on glucose," and to prevent the reduction of rates promised to the independents, "in order to injure its competitors."

ONCE MORE "13" APPEARS AS LUCKY NUMBER OF WILSON

Of course, it may be only a new and peculiar coincidence. It may have nothing to do with "spooks," or uncanny matters of another world, or hoodoo's, or lucky numbers, or the fact that Mr. Hughes voted the thirteenth ticket in the national election at his polling place, or anything of that nature—

It may be perfectly natural and all that, but it is exceedingly queer to note the manner in which the number "13" appears in the life of Wilson, as was stated in an article which appeared recently in The Constitution—but—

That was just the beginning. The last and most powerful argument in favor of the president's "lucky number" is to be found by a simple sum in addition. To date the plurality which Wilson has over his opponent in the national election is 403,312!

Just take the individual figures, add them up—and then call the doctor!

Guilty of Bank Wrecking.

Nashville, Tenn., November 13.—Arthur Bain, a dealer in staves at Camden, Tenn., was found guilty this morning in the federal court of the charge of aiding and abetting former Cashier W. H. Hooser in wrecking the First National Bank of Wartrace, Tenn. Pending a motion for a new trial sentence was not passed.

NUTRITION AND ELIMINATION

The health of the body depends upon the food, upon its proper digestion and absorption, and the proper excretion of waste.

The maintenance of health and repair of waste depend very largely upon the condition of the blood. In order to keep the blood in condition, it must be well supplied with fresh nutriment and the products of waste freely eliminated.

Many ailments arise from dyspepsia. Imperfect digestion is very often caused by defective elimination constipation.

Undigested food remains on the stomach until decomposed, causing dyspepsia, rheumatism, constipation, biliousness, or perhaps even to irritability and sleeplessness. Much dyspepsia would be avoided by attention to the condition of the stomach, and by obedience to one or two simple rules: (1) To eat slowly; (2) to masticate thoroughly; (3) to take no liquid with meals, excepting breakfast, but drink a glass of water, hot preferable, in which two teaspoonfuls of JACOBS' LIVER SALT has been added, on rising in the morning. This clears the stomach of all toxin poisons, clears the brain, and makes one feel fit for a day's work. 25c and 50c at all druggists, or direct from the makers, Jacobs' Pharmacy, Atlanta, Ga.—(adv.)

Nujol For Constipation
IF YOU LIVED as THE CAVE MAN LIVED
—lived the active open-air life of the savage, and ate the savage's food, you would have the savage's freedom from health worries.
Civilization, particularly for city people, means office work, not enough exercise, too concentrated food—and consequently more or less frequent trouble with constipation.
Nujol relieves constipation effectively and without disturbing the intestinal nerve centers. Laxative and aperient remedies tend to destroy the delicate nerve-muscle co-ordination of the lower bowel—hence are dangerously habit-forming.
Nujol is not a laxative. It acts in effect as an internal lubricant, preventing the contents of the intestines from becoming hard and in this way encouraging and facilitating normal movements.
All druggists carry Nujol which is manufactured only by the Standard Oil Company (New Jersey). Avoid substitutes. Write today for booklet "The Rational Treatment of Constipation."

ALMOST COMPENSATORY.

Belated returns from closely-contested districts indicate that the democrats, while having a safe majority in the senate, may be outnumbered by a small margin in the lower house of congress.

Of course, we hope this shall not prove true—that the splendid party victory in the re-election of President Wilson will be made all the greater triumph by the further strengthening of his arm with a working majority in the legislative branch of the government.

However, it seems to be agreed that should the official count show a republican majority in the house of representatives there will be no extra session of congress next year. In other words, following the short final session of the present congress this winter there will be no more congress until December of 1917.

This almost compensates for the loss of the house!

This democratic congress has enacted more progressive legislation than was ever passed by a single congress in the history of the country. These laws are working, are working out splendidly; and the country is secure in the knowledge that they cannot be tampered with nor annulled for at least four more years. If anything else must be done we have from now until March 4 to do it, and if it cannot be done by then it could not be done at all.

So after March 4 let's have a refreshing season without a session of congress!

The nation needs just such a rest.

JOSEPHUS DANIELS.

Next to President Wilson himself, the election of last week vindicated Josephus Daniels, secretary of the navy, to a greater degree than it did any other one official.

For some unaccountable reason, Secretary Daniels, upon the very inception of his administration, was seized upon by the republican press of the country as the object of merciless attacks, and continuously since that time he has been subjected to bitter and unmerited abuse.

For that reason Secretary Daniels and his record was a signal issue throughout the campaign.

And the voters of the country have approved him and his policies as emphatically as they have approved President Wilson and his record.

All of which makes it plain that, in the formation of the new cabinet, if there is one member more than another who stands reasonably certain to be his own successor, that member is Josephus Daniels.

Mr. Daniels has been abused and vilified by the hostile press, under every pretext imaginable. First it was because he "did nothing;" then, what he did was all wrong—just as what Wilson did was all wrong.

The people answered in Mr. Daniels' favor because they knew that under his administration the navy has made greater advancement than it ever did under any one administration since the organization of the government.

He took hold of a navy sorely crippled after a series of republican administrations—crippled by inadequate appropriations and indifferent administration. He succeeded as secretary a very nice, easy-going, pink tea Boston millionaire by name of Von L. Meyer.

With Meyer, between pink teas and with swivel-chair patriots attending to our duties on the seven seas, no material progress was achieved or expected. A little political departmental clique ran the thing to suit itself.

Mr. Daniels threw himself whole-heartedly into the business of finding out what was needed, and supplying it. He started in from the first day of his incumbency to do things; and the first thing he did, and which brought down upon him the first storm of abuse, was to eliminate liquor from shipboard. Today there is not an officer in the navy, it is safe to declare, but who commends that order and the wisdom of it.

Then, upon one or two occasions, Mr. Daniels committed the mortal offense of shaking hands with ordinary seamen! It was unthinkable! Such exemplification of the true spirit of democracy was revolutionary! It made the swivel-chair crowd gasp; and it horrified the republican press.

And so it went on. It was "damned if you do and damned if you don't" until the day of election.

But the American people simply compared the American navy of today with what it was prior to March 4, 1913.

And then they sent the answer back to Mr. Daniels' detractors.

And so, regardless of what other cabinet changes may or may not take place prior to the beginning of the second Wilson administration, Josephus Daniels seems pretty certain to succeed himself, if he wants to do so.

A CHANCE TO HELP THE NEEDY.

Out of the Home for the Friendless comes a modest appeal for cast-off clothing.

This beneficent and worthy Atlanta institution is just what its name implies: Its mission is to reach down into the hedges and the by-paths commonly avoided and gather into its sheltering arms the little waifs whom adverse fortune has cast off without friends or kin to care for them. What it does is done in the spirit of true charity.

Just now, facing winter, the home is sheltering 107 boys and girls ranging in ages from infancy to sixteen years. The cost of food for these children is great and growing greater, as every housewife knows. This, of course, the institution itself buys. But after the month's food bills are paid there is little left with which to buy warm clothing.

The public is asked to donate for this purpose garments and articles of wearing apparel which perhaps has been outgrown by their more fortunate original wearers, or which are being supplanted by new garments in preparation for the colder weather. Such clothing is exceedingly welcome in the Home for the Friendless, for there, either in its original form or altered, it is made to individual requirements. It is safe to say that there are hundreds of mothers in Atlanta who could handily spare little coats, trousers, shoes, overccats and dresses to make these little friendless ones warm and glad, intead of either packing the used garments away for the winter or giving them to the rag man.

So remember the Home for the Friendless in disposing of your cast-off children's clothes!

COMMISSIONER MASSENGALE.

St. Elmo Massengale became yesterday a member of the Western and Atlantic Railroad commission, the position having been tendered him by Governor Harris to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Judson L. Hand.

The appointment was in every way a creditable one, and that Mr. Massengale will fully measure up to the grave responsibilities of the position is known in advance by those acquainted with the character and the achievements of the man.

Mr. Massengale established the first southern advertising agency—and the first one south of Philadelphia, when he opened up his present business twenty years ago. The business has grown in highly gratifying proportion from that day to this.

It is no small honor to be a member of a commission in charge of directing the destiny of a great railroad valued at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, but the commission in charge of this work consists of thoroughly representative Georgians and everybody knows that in the hands of such men this valuable property will be disposed of to the very best advantage to the state.

Keep a lookout now for the nut who wasn't going to shave until Hughes should be entrusted with the white house keys.

There is a lingering suspicion that the River of Doubt must have its source somewhere out west.

Oregon must feel something like the lone man who went to the party not knowing that it was to be a dress suit affair.

After all is done, did it ever occur to you how really petit was every reason advanced for the defeat of Wilson?

And Mr. Hughes, who admits he was born on a Friday, cast ballot No. 13! He should have known better.

President Wilson, since Mr. Hughes voted ballot No. 13, has an additional ground upon which to claim that as his "lucky number."

King Cotton, by coming back Thursday to 19.70, furnished ample proof that even a presidential election cannot keep a good man down.

Haled before the judge for speeding at a 45-mile clip through the ambitious town of Wayne, Pa., an autoist said he didn't even see the town. Then what the judge did to him may be left to the imagination.

Colonel Watterson says "Kentucky is a democratic state, and all the machinery and money of the party of machinery and money cannot make it anything else." And it looks as though he's right, by gad, Suh!

Despite T. R.'s early post-election promise to keep quiet for four years, there are few of us who will believe he can do it.

When it Nears the Christmas Season.

I.

When it nears the Christmas season I know it by the way
The little fellers meet me at the closin' of the day;
An' Molly gets my slippers; my pipe is in its place
An' everybody 'round the house wears then a smiling face.

II.

There just ain't no mistakin' the Christmas signs. You see,
It's then they've all decided that Santa Claus is Me!
Here's this one brushin' of my coat—another takes my hat:
It almost seems like Paradise—the place I'm livin' at!

III.

When it nears the Christmas that's the only way
This here chap's accountin' for the change by night an' day!
Killin' me with kindness! They come at beck and call,
I sorter think that, maybe, I'm somebody, after all!

IV.

If I say my head aches, house just has a fit!
Molly gets the camphor an' goes to rubbin' it!
If my chest is painin', brethren, in a breath
Here come mustard plasters to blister me to death!

V.

But when it's nearin' Christmas, thank the Lord it's so!
Got to open up the safe an' let the dollars go!
For then it seems like Providence—just like amazin' grace,
For everybody 'round the house wears then a smilin' face!

At the Journey's End.

I.

Upon the ocean's bosom wide
The ship sails boldly on,
Nor fears the wind, nor needs the tide,
Until the journey's done.
Though storms may rise to lash the waves,
The tempest round her roar,
The elements she proudly braves,
Nor cares for friendly shore.

II.

But when the course is run at last,
Defied are waves and wind,
The dangers of the ocean passed,
The pilot she must find,
Into the port to safely guide,
With storms no more to breast,
Nor wild and raging billows ride,
Where waters are at rest.

III.

The storms of life you may defy,
When o'er the seas you sail,
Upon your strength alone rely,
And feel you cannot fail.
But you shall want the Pilot, too,
You'll watch for Him afar,
When comes at last the Port in view,
And you must cross the bar.

Angel! with Christ descend,
Bid our world's curse to end,
And in His holy name,
Man's brotherhood proclaim.

ATLANTA COMMERCIAL EXCHANGE HAS BEEN FACTOR IN MARKET CIRCLES

A number of leading business men of Atlanta will be the guests of members of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange next Thursday at noon at a luncheon to be held in the quarters of the exchange, on the first floor of the Trust Company of Georgia building.

This is the regular semi-monthly meeting and luncheon of the exchange members, and upon this occasion each member will bring an "outsider" with him and give him an idea of the work that the exchange is doing. It will be a sort of get-together meeting with no specified program mapped out. President E. P. McBurney, of the exchange, will preside.

Since the organization of the exchange last February and its opening last March, the Atlanta Commercial Exchange has made progress highly gratifying to its members.

At a meeting of the board of directors just held, a report upon the status of the exchange was made, indicating a very flourishing condition. 5

At this meeting it was decided to increase the membership of the exchange and to enlarge the scope of it.

This represents the second increase in membership decided upon since the organization. The exchange was organized with 32 members and the membership was subsequently increased to 150 members. There are now some 140 members, of whom about 100 are Atlanta men, which membership has been obtained without solicitation and solely because of the value of the exchange to the members.

Price of Stock Will Advance.

Just what increase in the membership will be decided upon remains for a meeting of the stockholders, which will be held probably within the next two weeks. It is already evidence that the price of stock in the exchange at that meeting will be advanced to at least double the present price, and, perhaps, may be quadrupled, this advance, members believe, being justified by the service the exchange is rendering and the demand for membership.

An enlargement of the scope of the exchange of considerable importance will also be decided upon at this meeting. This will be to install a daily quotation of the active stocks listed on the New York stock exchange. At present these stocks are listed on the Atlanta exchange but quoted only on demand.

Quotes Many Markets.

The Atlanta Commercial Exchange already gives more information than any other one exchange in the world, daily quotations of from one to four calls are given on the following markets:

New York Cotton exchange.
New Orleans Cotton exchange.
Liverpool Cotton exchange.
Foreign exchange.
Chicago grain and provision market.
Chicago hog market, including lard, ribs, etc.
New York refined oil market.
Atlanta cotton seed products market, which is the only such market in the world quoted daily.
New York coffee and sugar markets.
Local stock market.

The exchange expects soon to have a flag weather map from the United States government as a part of its equipment.

Atlanta Recognized as Market.

The establishment of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange upon its present useful and stable basis has been a big accomplishment for Atlanta. It has brought Atlanta into recognition the world over as a spot cotton market, and has resulted in trading in many commodities based on Atlanta, whereas Atlanta herself formerly based upon Memphis or some other market.

The spot cotton market is now made here daily through the average of the figures supplied by a committee of five, one representing the warehouse interests, one representing the mills or consuming interests and three representing the buying interests. The market price thus fixed is wired to Washington and made of record.

Figures of last week showed that the cotton receipts in Atlanta amounted to 17,210 bales and cotton shipped amounted to 5,636. There are on hand 60,429 bales.

MERCHANTS' CLINIC CREATES INTEREST THROUGHOUT STATE

Backed by the almost solid indorsement of the merchants of Atlanta, the committee in charge of arrangements for the merchants' clinic, to be held under the joint auspices of the Ad Men's club and the Retail Merchants' association, is rapidly completing all plans for the meetings on November 27, 28 and 29.

"The whole-hearted way in which local merchants are giving us their backing on this proposition proves that we are on the right line," said Phil C. McDuffie, president of the Ad Men. "This is the first stunt of this kind that has been pulled for the benefit of store owners in this city, and it is one that is going to mean a lot to them. Frank Stockdale is one of the recognized authorities on merchandising in this country, and he will have a message of real value for every merchant in the city of Atlanta."

There has been a redoubling of interest among merchants of nearby towns since the announcement went forth that they would be included on the same basis with local merchants. Inquiries are increasing daily, and there have been a surprising number of those who have signified a determination to attend the course. Prices in all instances will be merely nominal, and there will be separate arrangements for firms and for employees.

Although the movement began with the desire of the store owners and managers to get a series of lectures here for their own benefit, the idea of giving the evenings over to discussions which would benefit the employees has assumed large proportions. A number of the department stores have already signified their intention of having their clerks and salesmen attend these evening lectures, and this will doubtless become the most interesting feature of the three-day clinic.

Chicago Tribune Printed This.

(From The Memphis Commercial-Appeal.)

Every city of any consequence has its dark spots and splotches, and right-minded people never feel like acting the Pharisee and thanking God that some one else is worse than they are; but Chicago seems to be most unfortunate in the persistence and prevalence of its variegated forms of vice. This may be caused by the character of the population of the great city, which is heterogeneous, and a remarkably small percentage of which is native American. People come from all points of the compass, and they come for the purpose of making money, and many of them are not overscrupulous in the methods which they employ. When the late William T. Stead wrote his sensational book, "If Christ Came to Chicago," the vice in that city was exploited, and a knowledge of it carried to many people who knew nothing of it beforehand. Since then other convincing evidence of its enormous proportions have not been wanting. The report of the Chicago vice commission, published some time ago, presented an array of sordid facts that were so bestial that they were denied admission to the mails. These facts traveled far beyond the wildest imaginings of even those who knew more than a little about the seamy side of life; but it was supposed that conditions had improved under the scourge of reform movements. Just now Chicago is having another characteristic scandal. Her present mayor, whose rule has been so spectacular and who was at one time looked upon as an idol, has demonstrated that his feet are clay. A notorious proscribed district was broken up, and its denizens were compelled to emigrate, but it seems that they colonized a short distance away and the last condition is worse than the first. A negro alderman is king of the community. He is charged with protecting dance halls where whites and blacks meet in common, indulge in mutual ribaldry, and in perfect companionship drink to the lees the cup of social degradation. It is said that the chief of police winked at this. Public sentiment is compelling an investigation, and it may be that the reeking rottenness that smells to heaven and which causes the man in the moon to hold his nose in passing over the city will be abated. The olfactories of The Chicago Tribune seem to be insensible to the stench at its own door. It cannot see the crime and depravity around about it, but must confine its vision to the far south, and to an abuse of a people who are so far above its own immediate surroundings that they cannot even conceive of the existence of such an environment.

Extreme Thrift.

(From The Seattle Post-Intelligencer.)

"I fear my cousin is going to marry a very stingy man."

"Why so?"

"She suggested a morning wedding, but he said to make it after lunch on the ground that she would get one more meal at home."

PRODUCTS DAY TO BE OBSERVED IN MANY CITIES

Georgia Products Day will be generally celebrated throughout Georgia this year.

The following telegram was received today from Brooks county:

"Quitman and Brooks county will serve most elaborate dinner in history Saturday night, using only Brooks county products."

The morning mail at the office of the organization brought letters asking for authority to hold official dinners at Comer, Nashville, McRae, Statesboro, Millen, Sandersville, Bowdon, Griffin, etc.

In a letter from the superintendent of the public schools of the city of Savannah he states that all domestic science classes in the Savannah public schools, both white and colored, will hold official Georgia Products dinners if authority is granted for giving same. This will mean several Georgia Products dinners in Savannah, in addition to the dinners in the various hotels in that city.

Preparations for the state-wide dinner in Atlanta are well under way and the morning mail at the offices of the state chamber brought about fifty acceptances to the dinner from all parts of Georgia. Mayor W. J. Pierpont, of Savannah, will be one of the speakers at the dinner.

The Outside of the Cat.

(From The Minneapolis Journal.)

Business seers descry a dark cloud gathering over the future of the black cat. Generations ago a black cat with nine white hairs in the end of her tail was in for a bad time, for she was believed to be a disguised witch.

But today, withor without the nine white hairs in her conclusion, the black cat is playing in hard luck, for the fur trade has found that her hide is worth two dollars and is prepared to give it. As the hide has to be untimely ripped from the cat, the transaction is an unpleasant one from the point of view of the animal.

In fact, the growing scarcity of furs has brought into prominence and value the fur of all other colors of cats. Eastern fur dealers are advertising for catskins and paying good prices. A common skin brings $1, and solid black skins are worth $2. The skins are worked up into mercantile goods and costly furs. One New York merchant has bought, in recent months, 15,000 skins, and could use more. It is estimated that at least 15,000,000 cats in the country could be marketed with general benefit. For one thing, the birds would get a far better chance for their lives.

The cat is a quite general favorite, but there are times when, owing to her ideals on the matter of placing of the voice, her popularity wanes considerably. Her life suffers then somewhat from the hazards of existence, and now the values placed on her outer covering are likely to increase these hazards considerably.

Order Your Weather.

(From Answers.)

How would you like to order your own weather, just as you order Sunday's joint? There is a possibility that scientists may achieve this.

Professor Summerton, of the Australian Scientific Research association, is busy with experiments which may revolutionize our meteorological arrangements. He contends that his system will secure or prevent rain and sun, as is necessary for the country's good.

The atmosphere about our earth is loaded with minute particles of dust which, when condensed with moisture too microscopic to be attracted to earth alone, fall to the ground in the shape of rain.

Atmospheric electricity is said to resist rainfall. The air immediately above us is not charged with electricity. Our earth is charged negatively with electricity. At cloud level the air is charged positively with electricity, and the dust particles there become likewise charged.

During atmospheric disturbances the equilibrium is upset, and the negative electricity of the earth passes through midair to meet the positive electricity, consequently bringing down the dust with its load of moisture.

Professor Summerton proposes that the negative electricity should be sent up whenever we require rain. A conductor, taking the form of captive balloons fitted with steel points, and aided by certain other electrical devices, is the weather implement suggested. When sunshine is needed the method would require reversing.

"So he did; but she happened to hear of it."

LITTLE LOCALS ABOUT THINGS OF CITY INTEREST

The members of the second-year law class of Emory university have recently named officers for the year as follows: Carlton Cone, of Atlanta, president; P. A. Megahee, of Thomson, Ga., vice president; Harold Drennan, of Atlanta, secretary and treasurer, and James Tipton, of Dublin, Ga., historian. These men hold the distinction of being the first officers of what will be the first class to graduate from the Lamar School of Law. This class is composed of men who previous to the founding of the school had pursued the study of law at other institutions and were admitted on examination.

Charging a conspiracy on the part of her husband and his daughter and son to drive her away from home, in addition to alleging cruelty and non-support, Mrs. Fannie Mae Carson yesterday filed suit for divorce in Fulton superior court against William E. Carson.

Bright and breezy and as sound in editorial policy as it has established itself in previous issues, the November number of The Atlantan is just off the press. "Pull for Atlanta or Pull Out" is the magazine's motto, and in harmony therewith it devotes its front cover to an excellent portrait of Robert F. Maddox, a foremost Atlantan, who was made president of the recently enlarged Atlanta National bank.

Four Atlanta creditors yesterday filed a petition in the United States district court to have C. Bankendorf, who conducts a general merchandising business at Grantville, Ga., adjudged a bankrupt. The petitioners are the Ridley-Yates company, the Union Manufacturing company, the M. Kutz company and the Frankel Clothing company.

They allege that Mr. Bankendorf is hopelessly in debt, and that he owes them accounts ranging from $50 to several hundreds of dollars in amounts.

Charles Showers, age 22, of 571 Marietta street, being chased by policemen through the maze of Atlanta's downtown streets during the busy hours of late afternoon, gave a real thrill to pedestrians Monday afternoon by attempting to elude his "bluecoat" pursuers by jumping from the Broad street viaduct to the tracks below. His rather dangerous attempt to escape arrest did not save him, for a moment later Officers J. D. Freeman and R. L. Hollingsworth were on his heels, and had him in charge. He was sent, uninjured, to the police station, where he was allowed to get over the effects of his "drunk."

Alex C. Center, a deputy from Cincinnati, Monday secured from Governor Harris extradition papers for one Afoon Ahmand Barakat, under arrest in Savannah and wanted in Cincinnati on a charge of embezzling $712 worth of imported laces from Samuel Zaroor, of Cincinnati.

Governor Harris has appointed Dr. B. C. Teasley, of Hartwell, as a member of the state board of health to succeed Dr. J. D. Weaver, deceased.

An eleventh hour change in his confession gave a respite to Will Miles, the negro convicted of the murder of John H. Moore, prominent coal dealer, and sentenced to hang this morning, when Attorney T. Donnelly Bennett filed an appeal for new trial. Preparations for the execution had been made, when the plea was filed. Miles repudiated his confession in a conversation with Sheriff C. Wheeler Mangum, and it is on this ground that the appeal will be heard November 18 before Judge Ben Hill.

PRESBYTERIANS GATHER FOR GREAT CONVENTION IN DALTON, GA., TONIGHT

Atlanta has in her midst today many and prominent ministers and laymen from various parts of the state who are en route to the synod of Georgia, which convenes tonight in its annual meeting at Dalton.

This morning the executive committee on Synod's Home missions and evangelism, of which Dr. Richard Orme Flinn is chairman, and Dr. M. McG. Shields is superintendent, goes on the Dixie Flyer to Dalton to hold a preconvention meeting. Its members represent the work in the six presbyteries that compose the synod.

All the Presbyterian churches in the city will be represented by their ministers and a layman. Prominent also among the leaders in the work are Dr. Rockwell S. Brank, of the Independent church, Savannah; Dr. Robert Stuart Sanders of Thomasville, Dr. L. W. Curtis of Macon, Dr. Samuel J. Cartledge of Athens, besides a number of laymen.

The opening sermon will be preached by the visiting moderator, Dr. Joseph R. Sevier, of Augusta. Much interest centers about the election of his successor. In all these church courts the time-honored custom is that no one becomes his own successor. Dr. J. G. Herndon is the stated clerk and upon him rests the responsibility for the rapid and efficient dispatch of business.

Candler and Webster Are Attending Meeting Of Rail Board Leaders

C. M. Candler, chairman, and J. Prince Webster, rate expert, of the Georgia railroad commission, are in Washington, D. C., attending the annual meeting of the National Association of Railway Commissioners, the executive committee of which Chairman Candler is a member.

In addition to attending the sessions of the convention, Mr. Candler and Mr. Webster intend to attend at least a part of the hearing now in progress before the interstate commission looking to changing the fiscal year for railroads from July 1-June 30 to January 1-December 31.

It is understood that about 88 per cent of the railroads have voted in favor of such a change, and carriers of the south believe that such a change would be of very material benefit to them. This is for the reason that such a change would enable them to prorate the heavy maintenance expense of the summer months, such as replacing ties and other details, up to September or October, whereas, with the fiscal year ending June 30, they are not allowed to carry over a maintenance reserve.

14 COUNTIES YET TO BE HEARD FROM ON STATE ELECTION

With the consolidated returns from fourteen Georgia counties still missing the work of consolidating the state vote was proceeding in the office of Secretary of State Phil Cook Monday. The tardy counties have been urged to rush their consolidated returns at the earliest possible moment.

Returns at present received indicate that all the constitutional amendments have passed with, perhaps, the exception of the amendment designed to exempt ship concerns from taxation. The vote upon this amendment is very close and the fate of the amendment is in doubt. It will very likely require an official count to decide whether this amendment has been carried or lost.

It will be several days yet before the complete returns from the state will be known.

WILSON PLUNGES INTO BUSINESS

Believed Mexican and Submarine Questions Present Dangerous Possibilities. There May Be Changes in the Cabinet.

Washington, November 13.—President Wilson, back in the white house for the first time since the campaign began two months ago, plunged into work today in an effort to clear his desk of accumulated business. Taking for granted that he had been re-elected, he asked no questions about electoral votes, but did display anxiety over the political complexion of the next house of representatives.

Through an interview with Secretary Lansing the president got in touch with pressing foreign problems, including the submarine, Mexican and British blockade issues, and in a talk with Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the finance committee of the democratic national committee, he became acquainted with the latest developments in the political situation.

State department officials make no secret of their belief that dangerous possibilities are presented by recent developments in both the Mexican and submarine questions. Secretary Lansing reviewed details with Mr. Wilson today, but said no immediate action was in prospect. Some development is expected soon, however, at the American-Mexican conference sitting at Atlantic City.

No Radical Changes in Policies.

It was stated definitely by officials in the confidence of the president today that his re-election will mean no radical changes in any of his policies. He is said to feel that in general his course has been indorsed by the nation at the polls. Consequently the administration's policy, both in domestic and foreign affairs, it is predicted, will remain practically unchanged, although as soon as the war is over the president will recommend a revision of the tariff if he feels it is justified by the facts to be gathered by the tariff commission created by congress at its last session.

With regard to foreign affairs, it was said today that the attitude of the government toward submarine warfare laid down in the note following the sinking of the channel steamer Sussex and in previous communications will be followed strictly and the state department will continue to press for American rights in connection with the allied blockade and mail censorship.

If a satisfactory agreement can be reached for the protection of the American border and American lives and property in Mexico, it is believed that the United States troops in Mexico will be withdrawn soon, although a strong force will be kept along the border. The confused situation in the state of Chihuahua and the uncompromising attitude of General Carranza on some points, however, are understood to cause the president to view the Mexican situation with anything but composure.

Domestic Questions.

On domestic questions Mr. Wilson has told his friends that as soon as congress convenes he will press for the remainder of the legislative program already outlined. He has begun the preparation of his message to congress. Because of the probability that the next house will be republican, he will seek to get through as much general legislation as possible during the short session ending March 4.

The president is said to desire no general changes in the personnel of his administration. It was stated definitely today that no cabinet officers will be asked to resign either now or next March, although it is possible that one or more may wish to retire for personal or business reasons. Among those who have been reported as considering resigning have been Attorney General Gregory, Secretary Redfield, Secretary Baker, Secretary Daniels and Secretary McAdoo.

Vance C. McCormick, chairman of the democratic national committee, and Senator Walsh, of Montana, who had charge of the western democratic headquarters at Chicago in the campaign, are understood to have impressed the president particularly, and it was said today to be more than likely that in case there should be vacancies in the cabinet or in other important posts, both of them will be asked to join the administration. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams college and a son of former President James A. Garfield, also is said to be looked upon as being of cabinet caliber.

To Catch Up With Business.

The president will catch up with his official business as quickly as possible, and then may take a brief rest at some winter resort before congress convenes. In order to devote himself entirely to official work he will see as few callers as possible within the next few days, and probably will not hold a cabinet meeting tomorrow. Instead he expects to call cabinet members in separately and go over their work with them.

Telegrams and letters of congratulation continued to arrive at the white house in large nuumbers today. They are being sorted out and as soon as possible all will be acknowledged. None have been received so far from Charles E. Hughes, the republican candidate.

Thursday night people in Washington plan to give a "home-coming" celebration in honor of the president, a feature of which will be a serenade outside the white house.

'Very Good Eddie' Pleases Capacity House at Atlanta

"Very Good Eddie" is everything it's cracked up to be—and then some! Smart is the word. It is a melange of snappy songs and dances presented by quite the most imposing aggregation of feminine pulchritude that has paid its respects to these parts in a long time. It is as full of fun and laughter as a bottle of wine used to be of bubbles, with an edge of the risque keen enough not to offend.

The production is jam-up—a wealth of pretty costumes—the whole show is as bright as a brand-new pin.

An audience that packed the house turned out at the Atlanta theater Monday night for the first performance, and everybody seemed to like the show tremendously. Everybody was kept in a continuous gale of laughter. Just about the time everybody thinks a dull moment ought to be due along comes Dave Ferguson with a side-splitting antic or remark. If you can imagine a natural born comedian faithfully portraying the effect of taking a dose of dry bromo seltzer and following it with a drink of water, you will have a picture of one of the dullest moments in the busy life of the hotel clerk at the Rip Van Winkle Inn, who, to be sure, is none other than the aforesaid Dave.

If the cast has no voices that stand out as exceptional, it can be said that the whole company, chorus and all, can sing and that the music does not require a Caruso or a Tetrazini to render it nor a genius to understand and appreciate it. What it does take is that spirit of youth and ensemble, rhythm and abandon that is the soul of modern ragtime, and with that prime necessity "Very Good Eddy" seems to suffer.

Burford Hampden, as Eddie, is a scream, ably screamed with by pretty little Vallie Martin and Lotta Radcliffe, the muchly mixed wives, and Madison Smith, the remaining equally as badly scrambled husband. Very considerable entertainers also are Georgia Harvey, Jules Epailly, Georgia Harvey and Loretta Marks.

One of the distinct hits of the evening was the duet and farce sketch, "The Problem Play," by Mr. Ferguson and Miss Harvey. Everybody also liked very much the dancing of Ethel Russell and Easton Yonge, in the first act, and of Miss Marks and Mr. Squires in the second act.

There are some songs in "Very Good Eddy" that will be remembered, whistled, danced to and warbled by neighborhood artists for some time to come. "On the Shores at Le Lei Wei" is a bewitching melody of the popular Hawaiian sort and Miss Marks and Mr. Squires made a big hit with it last night. "Some Sort of Somebody" is another with a catchy swing, as is also "The Fashion Show," the latter being materially augmented by unusual costumes.

"Very Good Eddy" will play night performances at the Atlanta theater Tuesday and Wednesday, with a matinee performance Wednesday. If you've got something weighty on your chest or some sort of a secret sorrow that you do not want to forget, you had better not go.

NED M'INTOSH.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Lovers of variety in the entertainment line will find plenty to their taste in the Forsyth bill this week. For those who love music there are Golet, Harris and Morey and Wright and Dietrich, two acts that highly pleased a capacity crowd at last night's performance if laughter and handclapping are to be taken as a sign.

Then for lovers of pure downright fun there is Willard Simms in his crazy "Flinders Furnished Flats" playlet that keeps you laughing from the very instant he comes on the stage with his funny facial expressions, wondering every minute just what absurder thing he can think of doing next than he has just done and crying with the rest of the audience for more when the curtain finally goes down.

For those who fancy the bizarre, there is McCormick and Wallace, a ventriloquial act that is almost unbelievable in its perfection and uncanny in its weirdness.

The opening number of the bill is a troupe of Japanese equilibrists, who possess the unfailing skill of their nation in that sort of thing. You may not care for the act, may not think that sort of thing worth doing at all, but you are forced to admit that it is exceedingly well done and, if you do like their kind of skill, you will find nothing to criticise in the way that they do their handspringing and balancing turn.

The Asana students furnish a pleasing musical entertainment with a variety of instruments and give an imitation of a hunt in the Black Forest that takes well with the audience.

Special mention should be made of the singing of the Golet, Harris and Morey trio, particularly in a sentimental song about going way back home to visit the old folks. Something about their singing appealed to the audience last night in a way that nothing else on the bill did and they were called back again and again for more.

The work of Wright and Dietrich, who are described as "somewhat different singers," also delighted the crowd. Both of them have unusually good voices, the woman's proving itself very sweet indeed with considerable range in the notes and under perfect control. Their rendition of a number of Hawaiian ballads, composed by Miss Dietrich, seemed to please the most discriminating musical critics in the audience.

The last number on the bill, "Joe Boganny's Lunatic Bakers," is a clown tumbling act above the ordinary, which closes with a ridiculously burlesque boxing match between two midgets.

TOM CONNER.

Loew Vaudeville.

(At the Grand.)

Immense crowds continue to pack the Grand theater at every night performance. On Monday night the theater was filled in the balcony and pit; every seat was taken. And the show for this week fully justifies the large attendance. It is a well-balanced production of five good acts and an excellent feature picture.

Lee Beggs and company vie with the Tyrolean Troubadors for headline honors in this week's bill. It is hard to say which of these two acts is the better.

Beggs and company present a little one-act play, "The Old Folks at Home," depicting the quarrels of the old father and mother after a peaceful married life of thirty years of peace. Their reason for quarrelling is their wish to reconcile their daughter and her husband, who have had a serious row and have decided to get a divorce. Of course it all turns out happily, but the sketch offers some amusing bits and some real heart throbs.

Four women and one man compose the cast of the Tyrolean singers and yodelers. Some very fine yodeling is offered by this quintet. In addition to their singing, they have some new and very different dances. The act is helped by some fine back drops.

Prevost and Goelet, styled a "Mix-up of Nonsense," begin their act by one of the team appearing as a messenger boy with a package for the other. First they offer some excellent comedy, but before the act is over they have presented some unusually good tumbling and acrobatics on a mat.

Dunbar and Turner offer what is termed an act of songs and eccentric dances. The act brought forth generous applause at the performance last night, the team being forced to answer two encores.

Andrew Kelly tells funny stories. Most of them are Irish and some have been told before, but in the main they are good. During his entire time on the stage he has his audience with him.

S. J. ORR.

Popular Vaudeville.

(At the Piedmont.)

Pleasing entertainment is offered the patrons of the Piedmont theater by the bill which opened here yesterday afternoon for an engagement of three days.

If you would like to see a pretty girl and hear some songs worth while it would be well to reach the house in time for the appearance on the program of Hudson and Reed. The girl certainly did appeal to the men in the audience on Monday and will have a drawing power through the rest of the engagement of the present acts. Of course, there is a man in the number, but the most of the attention—that is of the men, at least—was given to the girl. He might well have asked the question put by another male end of an act at another house long ago, "Why don't you look at me for awhile?"

Perhaps the best of the new acts on the bill is that of the Randow trio, acrobats. They do about everything that has ever been done in the acrobatic and gymnastic line at the Piedmont before, and then add a few just for good measure. In addition, there is considerable comedy, which also helps. The trio is composed of two men and one woman.

The Turners open the program with a skating number, and while there have been many similar acts given in Atlanta within recent years, their routine is good and all their feats are very well done. McAuliffe and Persons, a couple of dancers, seemed to please.

A moment ago it was stated that a certain number was perhaps the best. Then was added "among the new acts." This little amendment was made for the purpose of taking care of the work of Niobe. This little star of the water was held over from last week, and that it was a wise move on the part of the manegement was shown by the interest evinced in her appearance on Monday afternoon and night.

Niobe performs some wonderful stunts under the water. In fact, she seems able to do practically everything there that most people do on land. She can eat, sew, sing, all with her body submerged. In addition, she does a Hawaiian dance that pleases.

ROBERT MORAN.

AMUSEMENTS

"The House of Glass."

(At the Atlanta.)

Seats are now on sale at the Atlanta for the engagement of "The House of Glass," the best dramatic offering to date of the season. This play ran a year in New York and will be presented in Atlanta by one of the best companies ever assembled by Cohan & Harris. The company has been praised by every critic in the south and has been pronounced one of the most pleasing dramatic organizations ever on tour. It is a company of really excellent players and the performance will be the equal of that in New York, as the company is playing all the big cities of America. The engagement opens Thursday night and will continue Friday and Saturday with a Saturday matinee.

"Where Are My Children?"

(At the Georgian.)

Atlanta motion picture devotees are going to have another opportunity this week to see one of the most talked-of pictures produced in some time. "Where Are My Children" will be shown at the Georgian theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Tyrone Powers has the leading role, supported by Marie Walcamp and other well-known players.

"Where Are My Children" is the frank handling of a big subject in a delicate manner. It has been widely discussed throughout the country and the following criticism from a metropolitan journal is interesting: "It is a story intense, absorbing and powerful. It deals with a theme which is just now pressing upon the mind of the nation, that of the limitation of family. In the hands of the master producer, Lois Webber, the story is wrought with infinite delicacy and skill. Tyrone Powers' acting of the leading role is a masterpiece of artistry."

Charlie Chaplin.

(At the Georgian.)

Monday was a red letter day for hundreds of motion picture "fans" who visited the Georgian theater to see Charlie Chaplin in his latest comedy, "Behind the Screen." This is the picture in which Chaplin exposes studio secrets and makes fun of the motion pictures and the methods of their production. The whole world has laughted over his satire on other subjects. He has ridiculed the humble floorwalker, kidded the fireman, parodied the nobility, made fun of the pawnbroker; surely there is no one more competent to ridicule the picture industry than he. Those who have seen this newest picture agree that he has made a thorough job of it. It is one of the best things he has ever done.

It will be shown today at the Georgian for the last time, and together with it is a beautiful drama, "The Enchantment."

TODAY AT THE MOVIES.

ALPHA—"A Daughter of Mars;" "Liberty," episode 2; Mabel Norman in "Stolen Magic."

ALAMO 2—Mae Murray in "The Plow Girl."

VICTORIA—Anita Stewart in "The Combat."

STRAND—Edna Mayo in "The Return to Eve."

CRITERION — Douglas Fairbanks in "American Aristocracy."

GEORGIAN—Charlie Chaplin in "Behind the Screen;" "Enchantment."

PIEDMONT—"The Black Crook;" "Mutt and Jeff;" "The Scarlet Runner;" Metro Travelog.

AMERICAN WAS HELD ON GERMAN SUBMARINE

Capt. Curtis Detained for Six Days—U-Boat Destroyed Columbian.

Corunna, Spain, November 13.—(Via Paris.)—Captain Frederick Curtis, of the American steamer Columbian, who arrived here with the rescued crew of this steamship, declared to a representative of the Associated Press today that he was a prisoner on board the German U-49 for six days after the destruction of his vessel. All of the 109 members of the Columbian's crew were saved, Captain Curtis stated.

Captain Curtis said the Columbian was warned before she was torpedoed and sunk by the U-49. The crew was left in lifeboats and the captain was taken on board the submarine.

Captain Arthur Patterson, of the British steamer Seatonia, says that he also was a prisoner on board the U-49 for eight days during which time he heard the guns of the submarine in action and also heard distinctly the explosion of the torpedo which he learned later blew up the Norwegian ship Balto, soon after which Captain Yelugsen, of the Norwegian ship Fordalen, joined him in the narrow prison on board the submarine, where they were joined on the following day by Captain Curtis.

"My ship, registered at New York," said Captain Curtis to the correspondent, "carried a cargo of about 9,000 tons and a crew of 109, all of whom were saved. I stopped on the command of the submarine, whose commander ordered me to abandon ship with the crew immediately, which we did without other baggage than two satchels with documents and money.

"Submarine U-49 fired at once two torpedoes at the Columbian which immediately sank. The crew was left in lifeboats, while I was taken on board the submarine, which plunged immediately after I was taken into the small quartermaster's cabin where I found the captains of the Seatonia and the Balto. After me came Captain Yelugsen, of the Fordalen.

"The cabin was very small. It contained a little folding table, a folding chair and three bunks. Everything was permeated with the odor of benzine. There was no communication with the exterior and the cabin was absolutely dark night and day.

"We were fed in the morning with a few morsels of black bread, a cup of coffee and a small portion of bad butter; at noon, with a stew of canned meat and soup and at supper at 10 o'clock with coffee or tea and black bread, with butter or marmalade. The hours spent in this narrow prison were very long and disagreeable."

The captain of the submarine, Captain Curtis said, was about 36 years of age, while his crew of 40 sailors were all very young. All were attired in clothing of glossy leather.

BRITISH STEAMER SENT TO BOTTOM.

London, November 13.—The British steamship Kapunda, of 3,097 tons gross, has been sunk, according to a dispatch to Lloyd's.

The Kapunda was 330 feet long and was owned by the Melbourne Steamship company, of West Hartlepool.

London, November 13.—Lloyds announces that the British steamers Caterham and Morazan have been sunk. The crew of the Morazan has been landed, but her captain was held prisoner. A dispatch to Reuters from Malmo, Sweden, says the Swedish steamer Rhea, bound from Malmo for Stockholm with a general cargo, has been seized and taken into a German port.

The Caterham was a vessel of 1,084 tons net. The Morazan, a vessel of 3,486 tons gross.

HUGHES FORCED TO QUIT CANADIAN GOVERNMENT

Ottawa, Ont., November 13.—General Sir Sam Hughes has resigned as Canadian minister of militia and defense. His resignation was requested.

The break between General Hughes and Premier Borden and other members of the Canadian government resulted from differences over questions of policy and details of administration. Since the beginning of the war there have been many such differences on questions of military management, but until recently, it is said, they have been adjusted generally by allowing General Hughes to carry out his plans.

Lately the friction has increased. It is understood there has been a growing disposition on the part of the premier and the cabinet to insist upon their own plans as against those of General Hughes.

Difference About Rifle.

One of the points over which a difference arose was the supplying of the Canadian forces with the British army rifle, General Hughes, it is reported, advocated instead the use of a Canadian weapon.

Some time ago General Hughes returned from a three months' visit to England with a plan to have a Canadian war council organized in England with a deputy minister of militia at its head. The Canadian government, however, held that with more than 200,000 Canadian troops in the trenches in France or in training in England there should be an overseas minister of militia, which would greatly deprive General Hughes of his authority.

When the government insisted upon its plan, it is reported, General Hughes suggested that Sir Max Aitkin should be appointed to the new post, but Sir George H. Perley was appointed, although there is said to have been lack of harmony between him and General Hughes.

This took from General Hughes control of a large part of the Canadian forces.

While he was in England General Hughes, after investigating the Canadian army medical force, relieved General Guy Carleton Jones of the command. The government replaced General Hughes.

Criticism Resented.

Criticism by General Hughes of action taken by British authorities both in regard to the handling of Canadian army supplies and of the Canadian forces, it is said, has been resented.

It has been stated that there was a lack of cordialty between General Hughes and the Duke of Connaught, who has just left Canada after five years' service as governor general. The accumulation of differences has led to the breach which has come today.

It is taken as a striking coincident that the arrival of the Duke of Devonshire as governor general of Canada should be marked by the resignation of General Hughes, under whose administration as minister of militia Canada has raised 400,000 men for overseas military service.

General Hughes was appointed minister of militia in 1911.

While on a visit to England last year he was knighted by King George. His resignation was demanded by the conservative, in connection with war contracts awarded to American companies. He returned from England and demanded an investigation, which resulted in his exoneration by a royal commission.

BLIZZARDY WEATHER HITS UNITED STATES

Kansas City, November 13.—Kansas City and the Missouri valley shivered tonight in temperatures ranging from two degrees above at North Platte, Neb., to a reading of 21 degrees above here, according to the weather bureau.

Texas points also came in for unseasonable temperatures, Fort Worth reporting 28 degrees and sleet, regarded as uncommon for this time of year there. Amarillo, in the Panhandle region to the north, reported 12 degrees.

San Francisco, November 13.—Cold weather records were broken today in the Pacific northwest, Washington, Oregon and Montana reporting unprecedented November chills. Twenty-one degrees below zero at Helena was the minimum temperature recorded.

Fruits, vegetables and citrus crops, damaged last night, were in for a more severe frost tonight, according to the weather bureau, and protective fires are burning.

Of all animals, dogs seem to evince the keenest musical susceptibility.

HELEN KELLER IS ILL; TOUR MAY BE ABANDONED

Chicago, November 13.—Miss Helen Keller, lecturer, who has been blind since childhood, and Mrs. John Albert Macey, her assistant, have been attacked by illness at the same time, it was learned here today.

Word to this effect was received last night from Iowa City, Iowa, where Miss Keller was filling engagements. It is said her tour may be abandoned.

Miss Keller, it is said, is suffering from a strain of the lower spine so that she is able to take only a few steps at a time. Mrs. Macey is afflicted with bronchitis and pleurisy, according to information here.

Saturday Is Biggest Day Of the Football Season; Three Important Games

By Dick Jemison.

The biggest day of the season on southern gridirons is rapidly approaching—Saturday, November 18.

Tech vs. Georgia.

Vanderbilt vs. Auburn.

Sewanee vs. Tennessee.

This is the choice menu. Of course, there are other games scheduled for the day, but they fade in comparison with these three games, in which the three undefeated elevens of the S. I. A. A. will strive to keep their record clean for the season.

But the striving will not be without the fiercest kind of contesting that the victorious elevens have encountered all season.

Tech vs. Georgia.

Over in the classic city of Athens, Ga., Tech, leader in points scored in the south for the season and admitted to possess the best eleven in her history, will clash with her old rivals, the University of Georgia, and it promises to be a considerable clash.

The dope—there it is again. There ain't no such annemule.

Both have shown rugged defenses all season. The weight and speed are a standoff; the offense an enigma, and the spirit a tie. Everything points to a wonderfully close battle, witnessed by a great throng.

Georgia can still crown her season with success by downing her old rival, while Tech, to continue in the hunt for the southern bunting, must either triumph or at least tie her Red and Black foemen.

It is a situation that would do credit to any theme of any short-story writer, and Saturday's sun will bring the only answer. None can even be forecasted in advance.

Vanderbilt vs. Auburn.

Over at Birmingham the fans of the Magic City are planning to attend one of the most gruelling battles of the entire campaign on the gridiron.

Overwhelmed and mad at the surprise party handed to them Saturday, when the Bender-Cool coached aggregation of the University of Tennessee upset all the dope and smeared them, the Commodores are out for revenge.

With their backs to the wall, the McGugin machine will start a last-ditch fight when they tie up with the Plainsmen, and they have hopes in this game of being able to at least in portion retrieve some of their lost glory.

But what of the Plainsmen? Mike Donahue has apparently welded together another one of those splendid Auburn machines with drive in the backfield and a staunch line that has been able to withstand all shocks.

No team has poked its nose across the Auburn goal line, and only Georgia came close; but the Red and Black was rolled back when the Plainsmen with their backs on the goal line presented the still impregnable defense they always show.

Auburn must eliminate Vandy to stay in the S. I. A. A. race. Vandy, to recoup, must conquer the Plainsmen. Picture the mental condition of the two elevens and their supports, and is it any wonder that it sizes up as a great game?

Tennessee-Sewanee.

The Tennessee-Sewanee fracas at Chattanooga now sizes up of considerable more importance than the announcement of this game did earlier in the season.

And it takes on more of an uncertainty in the light of recent events. Tennessee's victory over Vanderbilt will naturally make the Volunteers the favorite with those sportively inclined.

But Chattanooga's crushing defeat by Sewanee has sent the hopes of the Tigers' supporters skyward. "Tennessee just nosed out a 12-7 victory over the Moccasins," is their chant.

Maybe they have some merit to this, and again maybe they haven't. Tennessee is certain to be even better than against Vandy, having tasted gore in the S. I. A. A. fighting. But the Tigers see hopes of a successful season by victory over the conquerer of their old rivals, the Commodores.

It promises to furnish a thrilling battle for Chattanooga fans, and the eyes of the south will be focused on Birmingham and Athens, but on Chattanooga as well.

East and West.

In the east there are several important games, the Yale-Princeton combat, of course, attracting the most attention from time-honored custom, though both have been beaten to date.

But chief in the list, insofar as title aspirations are concerned, is the Harvard-Brown game. The Providence eleven will prove a worthy foe for the Crimson, and Haughton's men will strike a tartar if past performances are any indication.

Brown has not lost a game this season, and, with the Eli scalps hanging to their belts, the Crimson headpieces would be added joy. There is no easy afternoon in store for the Haughton machine, and we are inclined to pass up any prediction on the outcome.

The Penn-Michigan game, by reason of its long standing, will attract some attention.

In the west, the Big Nine title will be settled for all time, when the two undefeated elevens, Ohio State and Northwestern, meet at Columbus, Ohio.

Upsetting all traditions and dope, these two elevens with formidable machines have eliminated all the other contenders, and Saturday's decision will crown one or the other the king.

Other games in the west, usually titular affairs fade into insignificance because of this game, and the fact that the elevens contesting have been eliminated.

PREPS WILL PLAY AS PRELIMINARY TO GEORGIA-TECH

Athens, Ga., November 13.—(Special.) As a preliminary to the Georgia-Tech game here Saturday there will be a prep game in the morning, starting at 10 o'clock that should furnish as many thrills almost as the big game.

The Georgia Military college eleven will play the Chick Springs academy eleven. The former is coached by Arthur Maddox, a former Georgia star, while the latter is practically the star Riverside team of a year ago.

TED MEREDITH IS TWENTY-FOUR TODAY

"Ted" Meredith's failure to uphold the athletic glory of the Stars and Stripes in Stockholm may be due to the melancholy fact that he is getting old, for he attains the venerable age of twenty-four today. In spite of occasional defeats, Meredith's monaker will go clattering down the corridors of time as one of the greatest all-around running performers in athletic history. Old timers say that Ted was outclassed by Steve Farrell, since noted as Michigan's trainer, but the present crop of athletic fans find it difficult of belief. When he closed his University of Pennsylvania career last spring it was in a blaze of glory such as few athletic stars have ever known. James—to give him his real name—was afflicted with a crop of boils and was far from being at his best when he sailed for Sweden, and the long ocean trip was a poor sort of preparation for meeting the Scandinavian fliers. When Ted is right a Kansas cyclone has nothing on him for impetuosity and velocity, and he could give a jackrabbit a hot race.

LOCAL PREPS MAKE TRIPS THIS WEEK

Two of the local prep school elevens will make trips this week. The G. M. A. eleven will go to Macon Saturday for a game with the Lanier High school team, while on Friday Boys' High will travel to Commerce to play the high school team of that place.

QUERIES ANSWERED

(Under this head the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.)

In the case of a light fast football team playing a slow heavy team, to which team is a wet, soggy field more favorable?

A FAN.

The heavy team.

Douglas 13, Tifton 6.

Douglas, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—Douglas defeated Tifton today by the score of 13 to 6. Sharpe was the bright particular star, scoring one touchdown and blocking two place kicks, one from the 41-yard line. The game was clean from wrangling and the superior team won. Tifton's weight was offset by the speed of the Douglas backs, who, time after time, circled Tifton's ends only to lose the ball on attempted forward passes.

Hempstead Re-elected.

New York, November 13.—Harry N. Hempstead was re-elected today as president of the New York National League Baseball club. John B. Foster was re-elected secretary.

Prep Eleven Issues Challenge to Any Prep Team in the Country.

The Keewatin academy football eleven, of Waukesha, Wis., with a winter school at St. Augustine, Fla., has issued a defy to all the prep elevens of the United States.

This eleven is out for the prep championship of the country and is willing to meet any eleven at any time and at any place in order that it may establish its claim to that title.

This is the eleven that Joe Guyon, the Indian halfback now on the Tech freshman, was the star of. In three years Keewatin has played thirty-five football games and has been defeated in but one.

Any communication for games can be addressed to Charles Wahoo, assistant coach at Georgia Tech.

SOUTHERN LEAGUE MEETING WILL BE HELD IN NASHVILLE

Birmingham, Ala., November 13.—The annual meeting of the directors of the Southern association will be held in Nashville December 15. R. H. Baugh, president of the association, announced here today.

BASEBALL MAGNATES GATHER IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, November 13.—With a score of owners and officials of minor league baseball clubs already here and a special train en route from Chicago with more than a hundred delegates, including major league officials, plans were being completed tonight for the opening here to attend the annual meeting of the National Association of Baseball leagues.

Among other important matters expected to come before the baseball magnates for decision are the new demands of the Baseball Players' fraternity, including one relating to contracts covering the clubs' control over injured players. Other questions bearing upon relations between players and minor league clubs' contracts, schedules, classifications, releases, etc., were to be discussed.

Included among today's arrivals were Allen T. Baum, president of the Pacific Coast league; Walter Morris, president of the Texas league, and President Bell, of the Western association.

The meeting will continue through November 16.

TODAY IN PUGILISM

Twelve years ago today Buddy Ryan put Honey Mellody to sleep in the first round of one of the shortest scraps ever staged in Chicago. The Windy City fans expected a hard battle between the two crack welterweights, but Buddy, who was a local boy, ended the argument with one soporific wallop. Ryan was only 5 feet 3 inches in height, and started fighting as a bantam. He cleaned up a number of good men in the feather and lightweight divisions, and then went after the welterweight crown. Buddy fought Mellody three times in 1904, the battle above mentioned being the third. Ryan won the first on points and the second on a fowl. Billy Mellody, who was better known to the fans by the sweet name of Honey, afterwards twice defeated Joe Walcott, and claimed the welterweight title in 1906. The following year he lost his rather doubtful hold on the welter honors to Mike (Twin) Sullivan.

The Deacon's Birthday.

"Deacon" Jim McGuire, who usta was one of the most famous catchers in the backstopping business, was born fifty-three years ago today. The Deacon spent thirty-two years in baseball captivity. He was a scout for the Detroit Tigers for several years until he threw up the ivory-hunting job last February to go into business. McGuire joined the Cleveland Nationals in 1883, but was released to Toledo, in the Northwestern league. In Toledo the Deacon caught the delivery of no less a personage than the Hon. Hank O'Day. McGuire alternated behind the bat with Moses Walker, the only negro who ever played ball in a big league. Toledo was admitted to the American Association, a major circuit, in 1884, and the colored brother was kept on the pay roll for a time. After leaving Toledo McGuire played with Detroit, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Washington, Rochester and Boston. For six years in the big show he batted over .300. When his playing days were over he managed the Boston and Cleveland clubs and was coach and scout for the Detroit Tigers. In his early days in baseball the Deacon wore a fingerless glove with a beefsteak in the palm for padding, and that poor imitation of a mitt and a piece of rubber clenched between his teeth as a protection for his molars constituted his armor. McGuire's hands became knotted and gnarled as the result of the numerous injuries and an X-ray examination a few years ago showed that he had suffered nearly half a hundred fractures and dislocations.

ATHENS GETS READY FOR INVADING HOST OF FOOTBALL FANS

Athens, Ga., November 13.—(Special.) The Athens Chamber of Commerce, the University of Georgia Athletic association, and members of the city council met tonight to confer on matters relative to handling the 10,000 or more visitors expected in Athens next Saturday for the Tech-Georgia game. Arrangements were made to handle the traffic and take care of 2,000 automobiles; signed agreements with hotels, cafes and eating houses, guarantee ample luncheons for 2,000, and other details were worked out.

General admission tickets will be offered at four uptown places, prominently "signed" to avoid a rush at grounds, and 1,000 tickets will be sent to Jacobs' Pharmacy in Atlanta. It was announced that a big banner will be stretched across streets bearing the legend: "Georgia Welcomes Tech."

The reserved Tech section on Sanford field will be decorated in Tech colors, a committee of twenty-five having been in Athens and twenty-five Atlanta alumni will be named as reception committee for the day.

The entire student body of Georgia, headed by the band, will meet the Tech special at the station and escort the Yellow Jackets to the camps of Georgia, and it is said also that at the rally to be held in chapel here Thursday night, two Tech men have been invited to be present and speak in the interest of the athletic relations of the two schools, while two Georgia players will attend the Tech rally in Atlanta Friday night on a similar mission.

Extra trains are advertised over the Seaboard from Atlanta; over the Central from Macon and Milledgeville to Athens; over the Georgia from Milledgeville, bringing the G. M. C. for the morning game with Chick Springs, and over the G. M. with likely a special train from Toccoa on the Southern.

Sale of tickets for reserved seats begins Tuesday morning.

UGH! CALOMEL MAKES YOU DEATHLY SICK

Stop using dangerous drug before it salivates you! It's horrible!

You're bilious, sluggish, constipated and believe you need vile, dangerous calomel to start your liver and clean your bowels.

Here's my guarantee! Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone and take a spoonful tonight. If it doesn't start your livar and straighten you right up better than calomel and without griping or making you sick I want you to go back to the store and get your money.

Take calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak and sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of harmless, vegetable Dodson's Liver Tone tonight and wake up feeling great. It's perfectly harmless so give it to your children any time. It can't salivate, so let them eat anything afterwards.

PIN LEADERSHIP AT STAKE TONIGHT

Bears Play Veribests at Crystal Bowling Alleys in City League.

Tonight at 8 o'clock at the Crystal bowling alleys the most important game of the city league series will be rolled when the Veribests and the Bears meet in three games.

These two teams are leading the league at the present writing and victory for either will give them an undisputed lead for at least a week. The games are rolled on the percentage basis and the team winning two out of three games will take the league lead.

A good crowd of bowling fans is certain to attend.

WHOLESALE DRUGGISTS MEET IN JACKSONVILLE

Jacksonville, Fla., November 13.—The South Atlantic Druggists' association, made up of wholesale druggists of South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, met in semi-annual session here today. I. A. Solomons, of Savannah, president of the body, presided at today's meeting. Among the prominent druggists in attendance are James W. Morrison, of Chicago, president of the National Druggists' association, and F. E. Holliday, of New York, secretary of the National association. The most important subjects discussed today was the present condition of the drug market on account of the European war. The members are being entertained at a banquet at a local hotel tonight. Another session will be held tomorrow morning and in the afternoon they will be taken on an automobile trip to St. Augustine.

HE KEPT VOW TO FEED ALL THE HUNGRY MEN

New York, November 13.—Twenty years ago Max Gootschneider with his wife and baby girl arrived in New York penniless from Volna, Russia. He begged help from a charitable organization and was given a job as a fur dyer. In return he made a vow that when his daughter should be married all men who were hungry as he was then should be fed. The immigrant became a prosperous fur dealer and yesterday he announced the coming marriage of his daughter to a diamond merchant. He drove to the Hebrew society's headquarters in his limousine and explained that he was ready to keep the vow he made a score of years ago.

"How many immigrants have you here now?" he asked. He was told about 200.

"Not enough," he declared. "Go out into the neighborhood. I want to feed any number up to 1,000, perhaps more, if you can get them."

Nearly 1,000 poor were fed at his expense between 1 p. m. and midnight.

PLANS COMPLETE FOR REBUILDING DEKALB COURTHOUSE

Decatur, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—W. J. J. Chase, of the firm of Chase & Walker, has completed preliminary plans for the rebuilding of the DeKalb county courthouse. The plans provide for the abolishment of the small porches at the east and west sides of the building and the building at each end of a one-story annex, 37x20 feet. The plans also provide for the abolishment of the clock tower. The courtroom is located nearer the center of the building than formerly.

The plans also provide for the removal of the clerks' office to the western annex and give the space occupied by the clerk's office to the tax officials. The basement, which was formerly of little use, is expected to be fully utilized, the office of the county school commissioner going where the justice of the peace office formerly was and the justice of the peace office going where the office of the county commissioner was. The county commissioner's office is moved upstairs in the space formerly occupied by the office of the county school commissioner and the sheriff's office is enlarged three feet. The ordinary's quarters remain as before.

The insurance on the old building has been adjusted, the county receiving $59,000.

Man Shoots Brother Following Dispute Over Money Matters

Rome, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—R. L. Robbins, a well-known business man of Rome, was shot and seriously wounded Saturday night by his brother, J. E. Robbins, at the office of the former. The shooting was said to have been the result of a dispute over financial matters.

Five shots were fired, but only one took effect. This struck R. L. Robbins in the right leg above the ankle, and shattered the bone. He is at a local hospital, while his brother is held in jail.

DECATUR TO ENTER CATTLE TICK WAR

Bainbridge, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—Decatur has decided to enter actively into fight to make this county a white spot on the cattle tick map of Georgia. It was not until a thorough investigation of the sentiment prevailing among the stock owners had been made that the decision was reached to enter the fight. Some of the leading stock men of the county appeared before the last meeting of the county board and asked that the work be undertaken. There are already about a dozen private dipping vats in the county and it is proposed to put in twenty-five or thirty more.

Dr. C. H. Abbott, a federal expert who had charge of the work in Colquitt county, will be retained by the commissioners. Dr. Abbott has been studying conditions here for some time in a quiet way and finds very little opposition to work.

Decatur county is one of the big stock counties of the state and at the Southeastern and state fairs many prizes were captured by stock from this county.

AUTOMOBILE IS GIVEN TO REV. H. H. PROCTOR

The First Congregational church, colored, has just received a check covering the purchase price of a motor car for the use of its minister, Rev. H. H. Proctor. The donor, who withholds the use of his name from publication, expresses the hope that the car will be of help to Dr. Proctor in his twofold work as pastor of the church and head of the Ralph Miner institute, which embraces the institutional facilities of the church. The membership of the church is now approaching one thousand, and this gift will be of special value in enabling the pastor to keep in touch with his rapidly growing membership. A number of persons have already offered donations of gasoline and oil for the car, which will be ready for use Wednesday.

COUNTY COMMISSIONERS TO MEET AT AMERICUS

Americus, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—A meeting of all of the county commissioners along the Dixie highway between Macon and Thomasville has been called in Americus, on Friday, November 24, by the Sumter commissioners, for the purpose of discussing and looking into the matter of securing the federal aid for this stretch of road in the apportionment of the money by the Georgia highway commission.

The Americus Chamber of Commerce started the movement with a committee who appeared before the local commissioners, who in turn agreed to act and have called the meeting for that date.

BITTEN BY RATTLER, HE OPERATES ON SELF

Albany, Ga., November 13.—(Special.) Cutting from the rear of his leg a chunk of flesh of great size when he was bitten by a rattlesnake today, Wilbur Wortman, formerly of Illinois, probably saved his life while in the woods near this city today.

Mr. Wortman and several friends had gone to the woods for the day. In some manner he became separated from his companions and in attempting to find them stepped on a large rattler. The reptile struck him in the back part of the leg. Wortman, sitting down, immediately drew his pocket knife and performed the operation which probably will result in his recovery.

When rejoined by his companions the wounded man was hurried to Albany, where he received medical attention.

Sugar.

New York, November 13.—The local market for raw sugar was a little easier today. Although prices remained nominally unchanged in the absence of buisenss, it was the general belief that sugars could be purchased at concessions, for with the new crop expected to begin to move next month and with the demand for refined not particularly active, refiners were apparently holding off and awaiting developments in the expectation of lower prices. In fact, Cubas for December shipments were offered as low as 5⅛c cost and freight. The close was easy at 5⅛c for Cubas cost and freight, equal to 6.52 for centrifugal and 5.65 for molasses, nominal.

The market for refined sugar was quiet and withdrawals were only moderate. Prices were unchanged with the exception of one refiner who advanced list prices 15 points to the basis of 7.75 for fine granulated, although still accepting odds at 7.60. Other refiners quoted 7.50 for fine granulated.

In futures the undertone was steady at the start and prices showed slight advances, but the easier feeling in raws and the limited demand for refined led to quite an active selling movement in the late trading and prices eased off, closing 3 points higher to 5 points net lower. The advance was confined to extreme positions, in which no trading occurred. Sales were 13,450 tons.

New York, November 13.—There was a big advance in the cotton market here today with March and all later deliveries making new high records for the season. March sold up to 19.94 or 46 points above Saturday's closing figures, while early new crop deliveries sold about 75 to 80 points net higher with September touching the 19c level. Closing prices were very steady and from 35 to 72 points above the final figures of last week.

The market opened steady at an advance of 20 to 32 points on general buying inspired by the strength of Liverpool and a crop estimate from Memphis placing the actual growth of the season at only 10,800,000 bales. There was a good deal of realizing around the opening figures, but offerings were readily absorbed on reactions of 9 to 10 points from the best, and the market sold about 30 to 40 points net higher before midday. As the price worked above 20 cents for May offerings increased again and there was an early afternoon setback of 10 or 12 points, but buying was encouraged by bullish southern spot advices and the highest prices of the day were reached in the late trading when January sold at 19.76 and May at 20.09 or about 40 to 46 points net higher on the old crop positions. New crop months which have been selling at very big discounts, led the afternoon advance and seemed to be attracting an increased demand from trade and outside sources. October contracts sold up to 18.85 or 80 points above Saturday's closing figures, with the advance meeting very small offerings, owing to the strength of the old crop positions. The peace rumors circulating during the afternoon received both bearish and bullish comment around the ring, and the strength was most generally attributed to the reiteration of small crop estimates and the firm ruling of southern spot markets during the past week of nervousness and irregularity. Private cables attributed the advance in Liverpool to continental buying of summer and new crop months, and said offerings were small aside from some hedge selling of near positions. Spot interests were active buyers of January here, while there was active covering and rebuying by old longs who had sold out last winter.

New Orleans Gains 33-36 Points.

New Orleans, November 13.—Cotton moved upward strongly on this market today as the result of a new buying movement which seemed to have its foundation chiefly in expectations of a bullish bureau report on American consumption tomorrow and bullish ginning returns in the report due early next week, which will carry the crop to the close of business tonight. At the highest of the day the strongest months were nearly $2 a bale up, and the July option made a new high record by trading at 19.93 cents a pound. Spots were lifted 19 points to 19.19 for middling, a new high record. The future market closed at a net gain for the day of 33 to 36 points.

The market opened steady and at the advance in sympathy with better cables than due and on a private crop estimate of 10,862,900 bales. In the early trading the improvement amounted to something over $1 a bale, 21 to 24 points, and the rise gradually widened until late in the session trading months were 32 to 38 points up.

A large business was done, but the market was not as active as it has been recently at times of strong advances and large professional traders appeared to take less speculative interest in the long side. Outside buying orders were in moderately large volume.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

Liverpool and The Commercial-Appeal's crop estimate gave the bulls fresh ammunition Monday morning. Liverpool was a very large buyer on the opening. Gwathmey Brokers, Spencer Waters, Bashford, Benkard and Heineken & Vogelsang were good buyers. The selling was widely sactered and mostly profit-taking. Spot advices continue very bullish and so long as spot cotton continues strong there is no chance for any decline in the future market.

The Commercial-Appeal's estimate indicating a commercial crop, including linters something like 11,750,000 bales, was cabled to Liverpool before the New York market opened and it gave quite a boost to that market. At this level of values there is room for wide fluctuations. It is said that the president is preparing to make a move for peace, well fortified with a reasonable amount of authority from the different belligerents. Just because the stock market declined in the late trading on this report, some longs in cotton sold out and other people went short, but all we have to do is to look at the closing prices Monday and see where they got off. The highest prices touched in New York heretofore was 20.04 for both May and July, the closing prices Monday for May and July are 20.09. As the Irishman said, "The market closed above the top."
DOREMUS & CO.

New York, November 13.—(Special.)—The cotton market has been firm with new speculative buying. Liverpool advanced and the interior markets were strong with spot cotton in good demand at the highest basis of the season. Spinners did not buy. To a large extent the large speculative holdings have been sold and the supply of contracts is small, except on the advances.
J. W. JAY & CO.

New York, November 13.—(Special.)—The cotton market found new high levels this morning with exceeding ease. The bulls found frost an argument in their favor and the bears have been and still continue afraid to go short of a market which responds to inflation and to bull speculation with such relative ease. The government census bureau report on consumption is expected out early tomorrow and is expected to total more than 6,000,000 bales when linters are included, against a total of 569,579 for October of last year. Perhaps for the first three months of the cotton season the totals of this year will exceed last year by nearly 200,000 bales, but to maintain such a gain through the remaining nine months of the season is more than need be looked for even by the most optimistic bull.

The bulls have a widely scattered, very successful and very wealthy crowd. Their holdings are well margined. Until they liquidate, the market is virtually tied up. Neither the size of the consumption nor the smallness of the crop is the force behind the market of the moment; that force is simply many hundred thousands of bales of contracts bought and laid away and held for higher prices. Some of these people believe in famine, some in smaller acreage, because of negro migration, some in general inflation of everything, but all of them are unwilling to see the market go down.
RENSKORF, LYON & CO.

New York, November 13.—(Special.)—Strong advices from southern centers coupled with active buying here on the part of Liverpool and domestic trade interests, advanced prices about 40 points in this market today. While there is a feeling in some quarters that prices are high enough and fully discount the moderate crop, all indications point to continued activity on the part of spinners, and until signs point to a curtailment of consumption we see no chance of a permanent decline.
BOND, M'ENANY & CO.

New York, November 13.—(Special.)—The nervousness of shorts was plainly demonstrated in today's session of the cotton market when, aided by strong Liverpool cables and firm southern spot market, there was a rush to cover, with the result that prices went to new high levels for this movement. Another potent factor was the report of a prominent southern newspaper authority estimating the season's crop as 10,800,000 bales. In the local market bullish sentiment became more pronounced, and there appeared a renewal of confidence that cotton will ultimately sell at 25 cents and we advise purchases of both oil and cotton around present levels. Liverpool is due 9 points advance on January contracts.
JOHNSTON, STORM & CO.

New York, November 13.—(Special.)—The cotton market scored an advance today of about 40 points with May and July registering new high levels for the season. Liverpool and leading spot interests bought heavily. The local short interest is estimated at over 200,000 bales; the spot situation is reported very strong; receipts show a sharp falling off, only 37,000 bales today, against 73,000 last week, while exports amounted to 31,000 bales. The weather was cold and wet over practically all section of the belt and the weather bureau reports a gulf storm center near Swan island moving toward Texas coast. The Egyptian crop is estimated at only 780,000 bales, against expectations of over one million earlier in the season.

Washington advises President Wilson will make a move toward European peace at very first opportunity, which may be much sooner than generally expected. October of the next crop has advanced over 100 points since Friday, due to eager buying by domestic and foreign spinners and any move by the president toward peace would probably be a signal for an immediate advance of 3 to 5 cents per pound all along the line. The census report on American mill consumption for October due tomorrow is expected to be very bullish, likewise the ginning report on November 22 and the final crop estimate due December 12. Weight of the bales is said to be running extremely light, in some cases only 350 pounds to the bale, and it is estimated that on this account the government report of 11,000,000 running bales ginned might mean a crop of 500 pounds commercial bales of not over 9,500,000 bales of lint. We expect materially higher prices in the near future and recommend buying.
H. F. BACHMAN & CO.

New York, November 13.—(Special.)—The wild market today is only a repetition of previous ones, movement of prices being those of speculators' prices with the highest figures at the close the highest figures of all records for over forty years, with the trade aghast at the unwarranted advance, with cotton still growing and the unusual deferring of killing frost now fully due, it is impossible to do more than to hope the wild advance will soon be exhausted and more normal conditions prevail.

Coffee.

New York, November 13.—After opening at a decline of 2 to 3 points, the coffee market steadied up during the middle of the day on a little Wall street buying, which was accompanied by a revival of peace rumors. March advanced from 8.37 to 8.45 and May sold up from 8.47 to 8.56 or about six to seven points net higher. The buying was by no means active, however, and the market later eased off under scattered trade selling and reports of increased freights from Brazil. The close was net unchanged to 3 points higher. Sales, 16,500.

Spot coffee steady, Rio 7's 9⅝; Santos 4's, 10⅝. Cost and freight offers were a shade easier, ranging from 9 15-16 to 10c for Santos 4's, London credits.

The official cables reported no change in the primary markets. Santos cleared 129,000 for New York. Brazilian port receipts, 69,000; Jundiahy 45,000.

HEAVINESS MARKS STOCK ACTIVITIES

Trading Broad But Fitful. The Professional Element Seems to Favor Lower Prices—Steel Loses Two Points.

New York, November 13.—An undercurrent of heaviness and uncertainty pervaded today's stock market, even though many stocks were strong at times and several new records were established. Trading was broad, but fitful, with intervals of dullness during the intermediate and later stages. Price movements were frequently so confusing as to indicate buying and selling of a conflicting character. Sentiment among the professional element seemed to favor lower prices, except in coppers, which again furnished the list with most of its stability.

The motors, equipments and industrials of varied descriptions were lower by 2 to 3 points, and Central Leather made a further extreme decline of 8⅜ points. Shipping shares, Atlantic, Gulf and West Indies excepted, were lower with investment rails, and United States Steel lost 2 points on the usual heavy offerings.

Republic Iron and the several issues of the Gulf States Steel company were prominent for their advances of 4 to 10 points, all at record quotations, as also were Utah and Ray coppers, Atlantic Gulf and West Indies and several of the paper group.

These gains were largely or wholly forfeited in the more reactionary tendencies manifested in the last half hour, when fresh selling of mercurial specialties was induced by familiar peace reports. Unsettlement marked the feverish close, most leaders being then at or near minimum prices of the session. Total sales, with Steel and Coppers again preponderant, amounted to 1,525,000 shares.

Technical, rather than actual conditions, militated against the bull account, fundamentals being even more favorable than at last week's close. One of the largest of the copper producing companies increased its dividend disbursement by 100 per cent, and it is well nigh certain that rails and other fabricated steel and iron are in process of further upward revision.

Last week's enormous expansion of local loans failed of reflection in the money market, but was the occasion of much comment, even though speedy rectification is expected.

Bonds were irregular, with total sales, par value, of $4,280,000.

United States coupon fours rose ⅜ of one per cent on call.

At last something in the grocery line has declined in price. All grades of coffee are off a half cent per pound. Sugar, too, is easier. Cheese advanced last week about 3 cents. Canned vegetables are increasingly difficult to find even at high record prices. Practically all canned goods that have retailed at 10c for years will now have to be sold at 15c. Seemingly, no relief in sight until next year's crop.

AFTER A GREAT RISE WHEAT IS UNSETTLED

Market Reached Highest Point in Years, But Closes With Slight Changes. Corn and Oats Up—Provisions Down.

Chicago, November 13.—Owing largely to an increase of the United States visible supply, total wheat today, after surpassing the highest prices attained in many years, closed unsettled at $1.89⅛ to $1.89⅝ for December and $1.94¼ for May, with the market as a whole varying from ⅝c decline to an advance of 2c as compared with Saturday's finish. Corn gained 1⅞ to 4⅝c and oats 1⅜ to 1½c. Provisions showed a setback of 5 to 30.

Active export demand, accompanied by bullish advices from Liverpool and Argentina, gave decided strength to the wheat market until chances disappeared that there would be an immediate curtailment of the domestic visible supply figures. Liverpool had sent word that arrivals in Great Britain were much under the requirements of the trade and that stocks were falling off in volume. Drought, frost and locusts were reported as continuing to damage the Argentine crop, and the bears were further handicapped by the smallness of receipts at primary domestic terminals, especially in the northwest. The more that prices here advanced, however, buying power seemed to diminish and holders displayed greater anxiety to secure profits.

Unloading by owners of wheat during the last part of the session was accelerated by assertions that Argentine flour was being offered at $1.50 a barrel cheaper than flour manufactured in the United States. Suggestions of possible enlarged imports of wheat from Australia at San Francisco and from Argentina at Galveston counted also against the bulls as trading came to an end.

Corn rose within ⅛c of $1 a bushel for May and July delivery, almost the goal which extreme bulls have been predicting. There were numerous sales over $1 in spot trading, with industrials buying freely. Crop damage in Argentina did a good deal to lift prices, and so, too, did a falling off in the stock on hand in Chicago and other leading centers. Oats, like corn and wheat, went to new high record prices. As in the case of the other cereals, the Argentine crop situation was a decided bullish factor.

Liberal receipts of hogs throughout the west had a depressing effect on provisions. Besides, exports for the week were much smaller than a year ago.

COTTON CROP ESTIMATE, 1916

Our Watkins Bureau will issue its final estimate of the cotton crop about December 1. There is no guess work in this estimate; it is based upon a canvass of every cotton-growing county. The Watkins Bureau has been making crop estimates for eleven years and their estimates during that period have proven more correct than those of the government or any other crop-reporting bureau in existence.

HENRY B. GARRETT HELD FOR SHOOTING M'DADE

Prominent Augustan Claims That He Was Vilely Abused by McDade.

Augusta, Ga., November 13.—(Special.)—Henry B. Garrett, one of the most prominent young real estate men in Augusta, being of the firm of Alexander-Goodwin-Garrett company, was placed under $5,000 appearance bond late tonight for the shooting of Fillmore McDade, near Augusta, late this afternoon. The shooting, according to eye-witnesses, occurred after a difficulty in which Mr. McDade heaped upon Mr. Garrett the most abusive insults, vilely cursing him and knocking him down.

The altercation was the outcome of Mr. Garrett and two companions hunting on a plantation which Mr. McDade rents from the Alexander-Goodwin-Garrett company, the hunting privileges of which are retained by the real estate firm. It is stated that Mr. McDade was advancing upon Mr. Garrett when he fired with a shotgun.

Mr. McDade is a man well advanced in years, and, although he was shot in the leg, it was a terrific shock to him, and he is in a critical condition at a local hospital.

FIRE CAPTAIN'S STATEMENT

CAPT. F. M. HITE.

Roman Chemical Co.,
Nashville, Tenn.

Dear Sirs: Having taken BOWERS' PREPARATION with such good results, I wish to inform you what effect it had upon me. Several years ago my physician treated me for indigestion and liver trouble, and was later told by them that an operation would be necessary. I took all kinds of medicines with no results. Two weeks ago my condition was such that I was forced to allow the physicians to hold a consultation, at which the consensus of opinion was that an operation would be the only relief for me. My mind was made up to have same performed, and had decided to go to an infirmary, but a friend heard of my intentions and advised me not to go to the expense, trouble and probably the loss of my life, when a cure could be effected by the use of BOWERS' PREPARATION. I took a bottle which swept a greenish mass from my system, including a number of genuine gall stones. Thank heaven, I took my friend's advice about your wonderful Stomach and Liver Preparation.

Symptoms in my case were biliousness, clouded brain, coated tongue, sluggish on rising in the morning, had gas on my stomach, and oftentimes had pains in my side and back.

I write this hoping it may reach some person who is suffering from stomach and liver trouble. Am employed by the Nashville Fire Department and will always recommend your medicine.

Capt. F. M. Hite,

Tobacco Habit Easily Overcome

A New Yorker, of wide experience, has written a book telling how the tobacco or snuff habit may be easily and quickly banished with delightful benefit. The author, Edward J. Woods, 155-H, Station E. New York City, will mail his book free on request.

The health improves wonderfully after tobacco craving is conquered. Calmness, tranquil sleep, clear eyes, normal appetite, good digestion, manly vigor, strong memory and a general gain in efficiency are among the many benefits reported. Get rid of that nervous, irritable feeling; no more need of pipe, cigar, cigarette, snuff or chewing tobacco to pacify morbid desires.

DR. PERCIVAL LOWELL OVER GREAT DIVIDE

Flagstaff, Ariz., November 13.—Dr. Percival Lowell, founder and director of the Lowel observatory here and a noted astronomer, died here last night from a stroke of apoplexy suffered yesterday morning.

For ten years much of Dr. Lowell's efforts had been devoted to study of the planet Mars. His home was in Boston, where he was born March 13, 1855, but he came here at certain seasons for studies at the observatory he established in 1894.

Dr. Lowell was graduated from Harvard university at 21. Later degrees were conferred on him by Clark university and Amherst college. Several astronomical expeditions were organized by him, among them an eclipse expedition to Tripoli in 1900 and an expedition in 1907 to the Andes to photograph Mars.

In 1902 Dr. Lowell was appointed non-resident professor of astronomy in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He was the author of many works on astronomical subjects.

C. W. M'CLURE WILL TELL COMMITTEE WEDNESDAY

C. W. McClure, the Atlanta merchant, who has been named to make the race for mayor as an independent candidate against Asa G. Candler, the democratic nominee, has not yet fully made up his mind as to whether or not he will make the race. He asked the nominating committee yesterday afternoon for a little more time. Another meeting of the committee has been called for Wednesday evening at which time Mr. McClure is expected to tell what he will do.

EFFECTS OF STRIKERS DUMPED INTO STREET

South Carolina Guardsmen Begin the Work of Eviction at Anderson.

Anderson, S. C., November 13.—The carding and spinning departments of the Equinox Cotton mill, which had been shut down since August 31 when a strike was declared, began operation today with a reduced force. The fifty-three operatives who appeared for work were jeered by a crowd of about 200, but there was no violence.

Five companies of state guardsmen sent here Saturday after Sheriff Ashley had declined to serve writs of ejectment on families living on mill property stood guard over the mills today.

Constable V. B. Marton today prepared to serve four eviction writs. It was reported that he had instruction from Major W. F. Robertson, commanding the troops, to move out the families and if asssistance was needed soldiers would be sent. Major Robertson took no action on arrival Saturday, saying he desired to study local conditions before making any move.

The household effects of John Carver and A. J. Frady later were taken from the houses they had occupied and set into the street. There was no disorder, but a crowd of strikers mutely watched the proceeding. Two other ejectment writs are expected to be served later today.

DEFICIT OF $300,000 FOR THE DEMOCRATS

It Is Planned to Raise the Sum by Popular Subscription.

New York, November 13.—Plans for meeting by popular subscription the $300,000 deficit which it was announced was incurred by the democratic national campaign committee in its fight to re-elect President Wilson were proposed here today by Wilbur W. Marsh, treasurer of the committee. The proposal calls for an appeal to 2,000 cities each to raise $100, leaving the rest to such individuals as may be willing and able to pay it off.

No concession of the election of President Wilson has come from Republican Chairman Willcox. He said today he is still waiting for the official counts in close states. While refusing to make formal analysis of the vote, Mr. Willcox pointed to various facts as tending to refute statements that the woman, farmer, railroad or labor vote in general was cast against the republican candidate.

Charles E. Hughes maintained silence at his hotel as to the election. He continues to receive a great mass of correspondence.

2,000 PHYSICIANS GUESTS OF ATLANTA

larly among the more ignorant masses of the people, who were mainly instrumental in the spread of such diseases as typhoid and hookworm infection, as to present almost insuperable disfficulties and to discourage the most buoyant health officer.

The duties of the railroad surgeon, including his obligations to the general public, as well as the corporations which employed him, formed the chief topic at the afternoon session of railway surgeons. A very illuminating paper on this subject, prepared by Sanders McDaniel, of the Atlanta bar, was read by his law partner, Eugene Black.

Other interesting papers were devoted to railway sanitation and to the various fractures and personal injuries most frequently met with by the railroad surgeon in his practice.

Three Cities Seek Meeting.

Sixteen states, including Maryland, Missouri and the District of Columbia, make up the membership of the Southern Medical association. Distinguished physicians from all the leading cities of the south are in attendance. Memphis has a delegation of twenty-five, headed by Dr. Frank A. Jones. Chattanooga has sent a strong delegation of twenty doctors, and Baltimore has a large delegation composed of many prominent practitioners and physicians connected with the Johns Hopkins university.

These three cities have entered the contest for next year's meeting of the convention. The rivalry has already warmed to red-hot heat, even in advance of the first meeting of the main body of the association, and the contest will probably be a close one.

In addition to these three cities, St. Louis has sent an invitation from the St. Louis Academy of Medicine, the St. Louis Medical society, the St. Louis Rotary club, the chamber of commerce and other civic bodies. Nashville, too, has a husky delegation headed by Dr. J. A. Witherspoon, and is also making a strong bid for the convention.

Among the Nashville delegation is Dr. John A. Gaines, a brilliant young surgeon, who is stopping while in Atlanta with his cousin, Charles T. Hopkins, on North Boulevard.

Among the most interesting features of the medical meeting are the trade displays which crowd Taft hall and run over into the lobby. Exhibits of everything that the doctor can use in his business, from typhoid vaccine to automobiles, are to be seen.

X-Ray Photographs.

One of the most interesting exhibits and one that attracted a large amount of attention was a series of X-ray photographs taken in the course of their practice by physicians in Atlanta and the adjoining community. This is on the left just as you enter the auditorium proper after passing through the lobby. It shows gunshot wounds of almost every character, bone fractures and various internal organic ailments.

Other items on exhibit which furnish quite a show in themselves are anatomical charts, medical books, X-ray machines, artificial limbs, rubber goods, surgical apparatus of all sorts, chemical house displays, operating tables and optical supplies.

Among the distinguished visiting physicians are Dr. Cary T. Grayson, private physician to President Wilson; Dr. John C. Bloodgood, professor of surgery at Johns Hopkins, and one of the leading surgeons in the United States; Dr. Stuart McGuire, of Richmond, dean of the medical department of the University of Virginia; Dr. L. F. Barker, professor of the principles and practice of medicine at Johns Hopkins; Dr. Isadore Dyer, professor of dermatology and dean of the medical faculty of Tulane; Dr. W. A. Evans, formerly health commissioner of Chicago, and a noted medical writer; Dr. Oscar Dowling, who acquired great fame as health officer of Louisiana in eliminating yellow fever epidemics, and Dr. M. M. Carrick, formerly health officer of Texas.

Entertainment Features.

With the opening today of the first general session of the Southern Medical association, a number of entertainment features have been arranged that will prove of special interest to the wives and other attending female relatives of the visiting physicians.

From 1 to 3 p. m. today there will be a buffet luncheon for the visiting ladies at "Stonehenge," the Druid Hills home of Dr. and Mrs. James N. Ellis.

The afternoon for the doctors will be fully engaged with the work of the sections at which papers of unusual scientific interest will be read and discussed. The sections on medicine, surgery and ophthalmology, rhinology, otology and laryngology will meet simultaneously this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Particular interest attaches to the work of the medicine section which will be held in the main hall of the Auditorium.

In the evening at 7 o'clock there will be reunions of the alumni of the various medical colleges represented at the convention, the meeting places to be announced today. At the same hour there will be a banquet at the Piedmont hotel of the Association of Southern Medical women, at which time there will also be a business session of that association.

The big entertainment feature of the evening will be the reception and dance at the Capital City club at 9:30 to the president, members and guests of the Southern Medical association.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES
From Day to Day

Real estate activity has started off with a rush since Wilson's re-election. One of the agencies gave out a statement yesterday that they have had more inquiries for real estate since Wilson's re-election than they had the year previous.

J. R. Smith, of Smith, Ewing & Rankin, said:

"We have had more inquiries concerning real estate since Wilson's re-election than we had a year previous. His re-election seems to assure prosperity for the south, and investors rest assured in going ahead with placing their money."

Two of the agencies Monday closed large real estate deals. One of them involved properties valued at $60,000, and another at $95,000. The latter sale included a large cash payment.

Small Sales Announced.

R. W. Evans announced the following sales:

J. B. Daniel to Mrs. C. C. Barber and others, No. 16 Linwood avenue, a two-story brick house on a lot 50x150, for $7,000.

Mrs. Nora G. Webb to J. M. Reid, No. 287 Lake avenue, a bungalow, for $3,500.

F. L. Steedman to a client, No. 81 Virginia avenue, a bungalow on a lot 75x200, and for Collins Brothers to F. L. Steedman, No. 99 Park Drive, in North Boulevard Park.

W. A. Fuller to Mrs. L. L. Harrison, No. 77 East Ninth street, a six-room bungalow on a lot 50x160, for $5,000.

E. C. Lakin to H. R. Daniel, No. 53 Albemarle street, a bungalow, for $4.850.

Williams and Hartsock to Mrs. Grace A. Dallas, the northwest corner of Moreland avenue and Albemarle street, 35x150, a two-story house, for $5,500, and for M. M. Bradley to Mrs. H. W. Otis, No. 713 Highland avenue, $3,750.

Busy Building Day.

Monday was also a busy building day. A total of $12,795 worth of building permits was issued at the city hall.

The Piedmont Driving club took a permit to enlarge its ball room and will expend $5,000.

Harry Woodward will build a one story, six-room frame dwelling at No. 50 Thirteenth street, costing $2,750.

F. C. Wilson will build a small dwelling at No. 255 Stewart avenue.

The Nunnally company took a permit to make alterations on its candy and soda store at No. 34 Whitehall street.

U. S. SENATOR CHILTON TO CONTEST ELECTION

Charleston, W. Va., November 13.—United States Senator William E. Chilton, democrat, will contest the election of Howard E. Sutherland, republican, at last week's balloting, it was made known here today. It was stated Senator Chilton, who, as candidate to succeed himself, was defeated by Sutherland on the face of returns to date, was in communication by telephone with Senator James K. Vardaman, chairman of the senate committee on privileges and elections. The announcement that the election would be contested followed this conference, it was said.

GIFTS TO THE KING REVOKED BY SALONIKI

Athens, November 13.—(Via London.)—The municipality of Saloniki, in which was launched the movement to take Greece into the war in opposition to the wishes of King Constantine, has formally revoked its gift of Villa Alatini and Niacusa forest, made to the king after the Balkan war. The reason assigned is the "ingratitude" of the king.

Moose Dictator Davis Dead.

Aurora, Ill., November 13.—Hy Davis, supreme dictator of the Loyal Order of Moose, is dead at his home in Cleveland, Ohio, after an intestinal operation, according to word received here today. Mr. Davis was 60 years old.

EXPECT COLD WAVE TO REACH ATLANTA THURSDAY MORNING

Forecaster von Herrmann, of the local weather bureau, says that the cold wave which is headed for the Atlantic coast from the section west of the Mississippi will probably not reach Atlanta before Thursday. Reports from Washington state that the cold wave is headed this way and that freezing temperatures have been felt in the states through which it has passed.

The local forecast states that the weather Tuesday will be slightly cooler, but that the real low temperature of the week will come Thursday, when a decided drop in the mercury is expected.

In Wyoming temperatures of below zero are reported and in several portions of Montana the mercury has registered 20 degrees below zero.

The Greatest Blood Tonic Ever Discovered

Known for 50 Years As the Best Remedy for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Skin Diseases.

Scientists know that the forest and the field, are abundantly supplied with vegetation of various kinds, that furnish the ingredients for making a remedy, for practically every ill and ailment of mankind. Medicines made from roots, herbs, and barks which Nature has placed at the disposal of man, are better than strong mineral mixtures and concoctions. Mineral medicines work dangerously on the delicate parts of the system, especially the stomach and bowels, by eating out the lining membrane, producing chronic dyspepsia and often entirely ruining the health.

S. S. S. is guaranteed to be a purely vegetable remedy. It is made entirely of gentle-acting, healing, purifying roots, herbs and barks, possessing properties that build up all parts of the system, in addition to removing all impurities and poisons from the blood. S. S. S. is a safe treatment for Rheumatism, Catarrh, Scrofula, Sores and Ulcers, Skin Diseases, Contagious Blood Poison, and all disorders of the blood. It cleanses the entire system and it's permanent. Get S. S. S. at any drug store. S. S. S. is a standard remedy recognized everywhere as the greatest blood antidote ever discovered. If yours is a peculiar case write to Swift Specific Co., No. 6 Swift Building, Atlanta, Ga.—(advt.)

RICH IN REPERTORY, SEASON IS OPENED BY METROPOLITAN

New York, November 13.—Richer in repertory, notwithstanding the difficulties caused by the war, and with an increased list of subscribers, the Metropolitan Opera company opened its season tonight.

The first night was made the occasion for the presentation of a work new to American opera-goers—Bizet's "Les Pechurs des Perles"—and the novelty was enthusiastically received. It had its premiere performance in 1863 in Paris, and two acts were sung at the Metropolitan twenty years ago by Mme. Calve. The scene is laid in Ceylon.

Enrico Caruso, in the tenor role, and Giuceppi du Luca, baritone, who, with Frieda Hempel, soprano, were the stars tonight, already were familiar with the opera.

Caruso and du Luca sang "The Pearl Fishers" together in Genoa eighteen years ago, and General Manager Gatti-Casazza produced it in his home city of Ferrara early in his career as an impressario.

A duet by Caruso and du Luca and an ensemble ending in a trio with Mme. Hempel were warmly applauded. Giorgia Polacco conducted.

The season will continue until April 22, and will include the presentation of a number of novelties, revivals of two new operas, Reginald de Koven's adaptation of Percy MacKaye's "Canterbury Pilgrims," which will be sung in English, and "Francesca da Rimini," by Zandonai.

DR. BURKE HEADS SOUTHERN STATES RAILWAY SURGEONS

The Southern States Association of Railway Surgeons at a meeting held Monday afternoon elected the following officers for the ensuing year: Dr. Joseph M. Burke, of Petersburg, Va., chief surgeon for the Seaboard Air Line, president; Dr. I. W. Cooper, of Newton, Miss., vice president, and Dr. Ambrose McCoy, of Jackson, Tenn., secretary-treasurer.

Florida Health Board Demonstration Train Draws Many Visitors

The demonstration train of the Florida State Board of Health arrived in Atlanta Monday afternoon, with its two large exhibition cars and one car used as a living compartment, to show Atlantans the best methods of preventing disease and furthering sanitation. The train with its splendid equipment is due to the efforts of Dr. Joseph Y. Porter, for more than twenty-five years an efficient and able officer of the state board of health. The exhibition is absolutely free, and Atlantans are invited to visit the train today.

ATLANTA TO HELP SLAIN OFFICER'S FAMILY

ficer Wallace, waged with an unknown negro at the corner of Simpson and Orme streets early Monday morning. He was on duty and was following the orders of his captain of police in questioning all late strollers on the streets. The order had been issued to break up night prowling, which is held responsible for the burglaries that have been committed recently.

"He was fearlessly discharging his duty as an officer. He was killed without having an opportunity to get his gun from his pocket," said Chief of Police W. M. Mayo last night, in giving $5 to the relief fund.

The poor little woman will not even get a penny of insurance from the Police Relief association. Her husband only recently became regular on the police force. While "suping" he could not make enough money to join, and he had laid aside the past few months enough money to join the relief association his next pay day. Unhappily for the little widow the next pay day never arrived, and now the little woman is almost penniless.

Her Home May Be Sold.

Her home is likely to be sold. It has not been paid for yet. It is a little cottage of four rooms, with flower gardens laid out all around it. Officer Armistead had recently painted it green with white trimmings with his own hands while off duty.

There's a little 4-year-old baby boy, who has cried since his father's death. The little fellow seems to realize his sad plight.

Citizens wishing to donate to the widow's relief fund may mail checks or send cash donations to The Constitution.

Believe Negro Was Shot.

It developed Monday that the negro assassin who killed Officer Armistead and also shot his partner, Officer W. D. Wallace, also fired twice at Officer O. M. Howell, near the Lyric theater, Carnegie way, as he fled from the scene of the murder.

Officer Howell reported that a negro came through his beat shortly after he had heard shots in the direction of the murder. The negro was barcheaded, and appeared nervous.

"I started at him," said Officer Howell. "He didn't say a word, but whipped out his pistol and fired three times at me. I opened fire on him, shooting four times, as he quickly disappeared in the darkness. The last time I shot I think I hit, for the negro slowed down. I lost him in the darkness."

Evans Warns Doctors Infantile Scourge May Strike South Next

Dr. W. A. Evans, of Chicago, Ill., health editor of The Chicago Tribune, former health commissioner of Chicago, and recently elected president of the American Public Health society, closed the first day's session of the Southern Medical association in Atlanta with a remarkable address on "Infantile Paralysis," which was delivered to a large audience in the Auditorium Monday evening.

He spoke of the New York epidemic of last summer, of its start in the western part of Brooklyn, of how it was at first ignored until it reached such proportions in June as to demand an immediate investigation and of the efforts put forth to check its further progress. The epidemic reached its maximum during the week of August 12, when there were as many as 1,200 cases reported to the New York department of health, he said.

"During the summer and fall," said Dr. Evans, "there were approximately 15,000 cases, and probably never before in the history of the world have there been so many cases in a season. Therefore, we have just gone through with the greatest and the most malignant of the epidemics of infantile paralysis in the world's history."

He spoke of there being only the embers of the epidemic now left, and of it as a thing of the past, and this was followed by the questions, "Why then discuss the subject?" "Why learn of it?" "Why should you be appealed to in this way?"

Disease Changes Field.

"There is a reason," said the doctor. "The history of the disease is that it has never burned violently in one community during two successive seasons. But when it is not violent in one community it is violent in another. Those who have never had the disease (are not susceptible) or those who have acquired immunity by having had the disease act as carriers of the disease. It is a living, active thing, kept alive by something capable of supporting life. There is every reason to believe that the agencies harboring the disease through this winter are human beings, transmitting it to those who are susceptible. The teaching of experience is that during the year 1917 there will be an epidemic of the disease in some section of the United States."

He here urged preparedness on the part of the physicians present, saying that before the end of the year 1917 some of those in the audience would be called upon to diagnose cases of infantile paralysis and to help to control an epidemic of the disease.

"It is very difficult to diagnose the disorder before the development of paralysis," said Dr. Evans. "The germs of the disease enter the body through the mouth or nose, and go then to the cerebro-spinal system and the effects are soon evident. The disease in its early stages appears like some summer ailment, with a slight fever, etc., and then there will be an unusual degree of tenderness and pain."

Cautions Audience.

He cautioned the audience to be on guard for those cases of summer ailments. Between one and six days of the progress of the disease paralysis begins, according to the violence of the preliminary stages. The death rate," said he, "is not high, there being in the Massachusetts epidemic only a death rate of 8 per cent, while the highest rate known was that reached in the epidemic in New York city, it being 22 per cent, showing that three out of every four who developed the disease recovered more or less completely.

"It is the death rate that makes the disease so malignant, but the terrible results, the dragging of limbs around which strikes so much terror," said Dr. Evans. He gave in detail some of the cures that have been used in France and in America and of their effects, telling of the injection of blood serum into those affected from those who had had the disease. This, said he, had not been so successful in treating the disease in New York as in France.

"It is a twentieth century product," said he. "Before this century we knew little of infantile paralysis. Since then there is no part of the United States that has been free from cases. An estimate made in 1910 showed that two-thirds of all the infantile paralysis in the world was in the United States."

Japanese Mother Sings Songs of Native Land to Son Born in Atlanta

A child was born to Mrs. T. Ohama, wife of a traveling acrobatic performer, at the Georgia Baptist hospital yesterday, and as the little mother of Japan cuddles her first born she sings lullabys of the Orient.

The boy was clothed in pink, and when the mother was asked why white was not used, as is the custom among Americans, she shook her head and said: "No, me no dress him in white, velly bad sign; it is the mourning color. Me dress him in pink."

The mother is eagerly looking forward to the time when her husband returns from his tour. As is the custom among the Japanese, the child will be christened at an early date.

LANFORD WILL DINE PRISON COMMITTEE

Superintendent Lanford, of the city stockade, will give his annual dinner to the members of the prison committee of council and newspaper men on the evening of Thursday, November 16, at the city prison. The dinner will be held at 7 o'clock, and will be served and cooked by the prisoners. Many good things are promised for the menu, and members of the committee will respond to toasts. The annual report of the committee on the condition of the prison will be prepared. The committee is composed of Dolvin, chairman; Armistead, Freeman of the third, Johnson of the fifth, Sisson and Mincey.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

When cross, feverish and sick give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.

A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sours, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well, playful child again.

Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

CONCRETE DAM AT NORTH WILKESBORO, N. C.

Bids are invited until 2 p. m. Saturday, November the 18th, 1916, on furnishing all material and appliances and constructing a concrete dam, with appurtenances, over Reddies River, involving approximately 2,000 cubic yards of concrete, also on a concrete cut-off wall and concrete culvert.

Detailed plans and specifications will be furnished to contractors only, on depositing a check in the sum of $5.00 with the Town Clerk. This check will be returned only to those who may bid. Each bidder will be required to file a certified check in the sum of $1,000, payable to the town of North Wilkesboro, and which check will become a forfeit if contract is not entered upon and bond filed promptly after the award.

The bidder to whom the contract may be awarded will be required to execute an indemnity bond, in the sum of $6,000, with some satisfactory guaranty company to safeguard the satisfactory performance of the contract.

The board reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

How Drunkards are Being Saved

CONQUER DRINK HABIT IN 72 HOURS

Any drinker may completely lose the craving for alcoholic drinks if he or she willingly takes my gentle, safe home Remedy for only three days. GUARANTEE GIVEN. It is perfectly harmless, overcomes the craving and wonderfully improves the health. By my A Method you can save yourself or another person. The craving begins to disappear in a few hours and the health improves every minute! An astonishing and lasting transformation! Also, I supply my B Method whereby the DRUNKARD MAY BE SAVED WITHOUT HIS KNOWLEDGE safely and speedily. The person SOON BEGINS TO DETEST SMELL OR TASTE OF LIQUOR despises the stuff, and nothing can induce him to drink it. Any wife, mother or friend can give these preparations secretly in coffee, tea, milk, whisky, beer or other drink. They are tasteless and often truly wonderful in their action. Do not confuse them with numerous worthless things that are being advertised.

My Book Confessions of an Alcohol Slave tells how I was a heavy drinker for many years and was marvelously freed from the drink habit; it explains how the same joy can come to every other drinker. My Method is the most successful in the world. It is the lowest priced Treatment, with GUARANTEE. Often succeeds after all others fail. Legions of testimonials from persons willing to have their names and addresses published, so you can call or write to them. I will send my book, in plain wrapper, postpaid, absolutely free. Write for it, no matter how long person has been a drinker or how much he drinks. Correspondence strictly confidential. I can answer as well by mail as if you call. Write today if you can; keep this ad. and show others in need of this joyful news.

FREE EDWARD J. WOODS, 155 M, Station E, NewYork, N.Y.

NOTICE.—Woods' Method for conquering drink habit, is endorsed by physicians and experts of America and Europe as the quickest, best, perfectly safe remedy. Mr. Woods' Free Book often changes despair to joy!

GET THE RIGHT MAN FOR THE RIGHT JOB

If every employer could get the right man on the right job, the problem of running a business would be settled.

The lost motion resulting from the wrong man or the wrong job would be eliminated and the time and money wasted would be saved.

Perhaps such a condition will never prevail, but every time a "Help Wanted" ad is inserted in The Constitution a move is made in that direction.

From the number of answers received from a "Help Wanted" ad in this paper, the employer can easily find the right man for the right job.

WHY HAIR FALLS OUT

Dandruff causes a feverish irritation of the scalp, the hair roots shrink, loosen and then the hair comes out fast. To stop falling hair at once and rid the scalp of every particle of dandruff, get a 25-cent bottle of Danderine at any drug store, pour a little in your hand and rub well into the scalp. After a few applications all dandruff disappears and the hair stops coming out.

REAL ESTATE INVESTMENTS

Conditions are favorable to the buyer at this time; he figures on low prices and conservative rentals. There is no inflation in prices; no inflation in rentals to mislead the judgment.

The small trader who buys stocks or bonds is in competition with millionaires, men who have unlimited money and inside sources of information.

In the field of small real estate investments the man of moderate means has it all to himself; millionaires do not invade that field. The small trader can make profits and good income, coupled with absolute safety.
